College salutes its home state

We, the faculty and students of Arkansas State College, proudly salute our home state of Arkansas in honor of its 125th year of statehood. Arkansas has advanced so far beyond words in fields of agriculture, industry, education and economy, that it is impossible to tell the entire story of success. However, through the pages of this book, we are going to try to present a picture of success of two institutions; Arkansas as a state and Arkansas State as a college. It is hoped that when the last page of this annual is turned, you the students of Arkansas State and all others who may venture through this book, too, may have a deeper feeling of gratitude toward the state of Arkansas and will join us in saluting her 125th anniversary celebration. To Arkansas, "The Land of Opportunity," who sets a standard for us to follow, this book is humbly dedicated.

ARKANSAS

125 Years Of Statehood

Approximately 420 years ago the first white men led by Hernando DeSoto reached Arkansas, then a territory. Since that time the territory, which later become a state, has seen numerous types and races of men in this area.

After Desoto's journey down the Mississippi River to Arkansas, the territorial state was visited by Marquette and Joliet about 100 years later. The first permanent settlement in what is now Arkansas was made by De Tonti in 1686 at Arkansas Post, one of the most popular historical spots in the state today.

When the Americans learned about the French having ownership of Louisiana, they were very eager to secure an outlet at the mouth of the Mississippi. So in 1803 the United States bargained with France and paid her $15,000,000 for the entire Louisiana Purchase which included Arkansas.

The Arkansas territory was organized in 1819, and after seeking admission to the Union several times, was officially admitted in 1836. Since many Indian Tribes inhabited the territory in its earliest existence, it was only proper that an Indian name be given it. Since the Civil War days, Arkansas has produced one of the most talked about resort areas, the great hunting and fishing facilities and truly one of the nation's leading family vacationing areas. It has approximately 25 institutions of higher learning, one of the fastest growing in the state of which is Arkansas State.

It's natural resource potentials can be matched by no other state in the Union. Arkansas, in its brief existence of 125 years, has continued, and will do so in the future, to produce and develop its greatest natural resource — its students — in the best way possible.

Arkansas continues to # move forward in developing . . .

its natural resources

Although not as young as some of the other states and in the same token not as old as the others, Arkansas has advanced rapidly in the developing of her industry, natural resources and her people.

It has been said that if any of the states had the capacities needed to become independent, only Arkansas could come close to being that state. Proof of her importance to others is the fact that Arkansas is the only area on the North American Continent that has a diamond field, its industries have grown beyond leaps and bounds, and many of her people have become very prominent in the fields of education, politics, and athletics.

Arkansas is just beginning her development. In the next few years, the world will be able to look upon the state of Arkansas and will marvel at her rapid and successful growth in her three main resources . . . people, industry and natural resources.

The year at

With the beginning of each new year the September flood of students serves as a notice that many new things are in store for them. The Greeks are in the midst of their bi-annual rush campaigns, the registration lines seem a mile long, and the IBM machines are overworked in trying to get each student in the right class at the right time. In general, the students are brooding over the thought of having to attend classes but at the same time are glad to be back among old friends and new ones.

But college isn't so bad as some think it might be. Especially this year! Yes, this is the year for Arkansas State. More progress has been outlined this year than has been planned in the previous 51 years of her growth.

A mammoth building program is imminent. Our efforts toward the attainment of our justifiable status as a university is becoming more and more apparent to everyone.

The ever-increasing rise in our enrollment and the success of our "big-time" football program are significant of the tremendous steps toward higher capabilities in the realm of education.

But the fact remains that the presence of a big time football team or the prestige of a name is secondary to the ultimate goal of Arkansas State — the goal of presenting to the public, well-rounded, civic-minded students of the highest caliber.

Arkansas State

POLITICS BECOMES the main issue during the Spring as supporters cover the campus campaigning for their favorite candidates.

PHI DELTA KAPPA, professional education fraternity, was chartered at A-State early last fall.

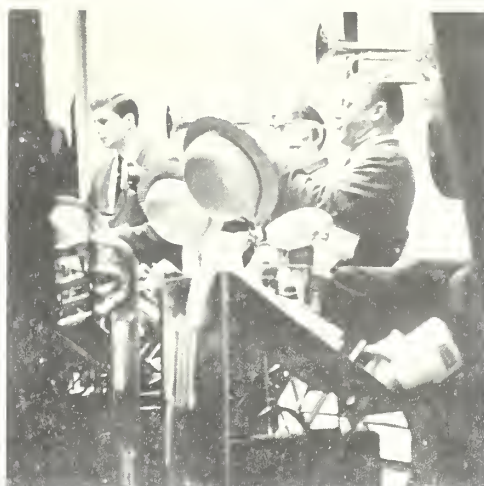

NEW WOMEN'S DORMITORY is designed to house 326 students. Construction of the modern facility began early in the Spring.

EACH SCHOOL YEAR marks its beginning with the fall rush week for Greek organizations.

ENTERTAINMENT such as this by the Glenn Miller Band builds a well-rounded student.

SUCCESS of our athletics is a big factor in the prestige of A-State.

... another year of advance in the educational field

1960-61 begins another year in the advance of education in the state of Arkansas. Among the fastest growing colleges in the state and across the United States is Arkansas State. In its determination for university status, Arkansas State is working toward higher potentialities with its present facilities and its student body. Beginning as primarily an agricultural college, the school has progressed so rapidly, it now has the potential of four colleges in one. Through these pages we hope to portray, through pictures, the day-to-day life of a college in its pursuit of higher ideals.

T ogether, we look

LION OIL REFINERY Company in El Dorado is just one link in the chain of industries that are helping Arkansas, and her people, to look toward the future.

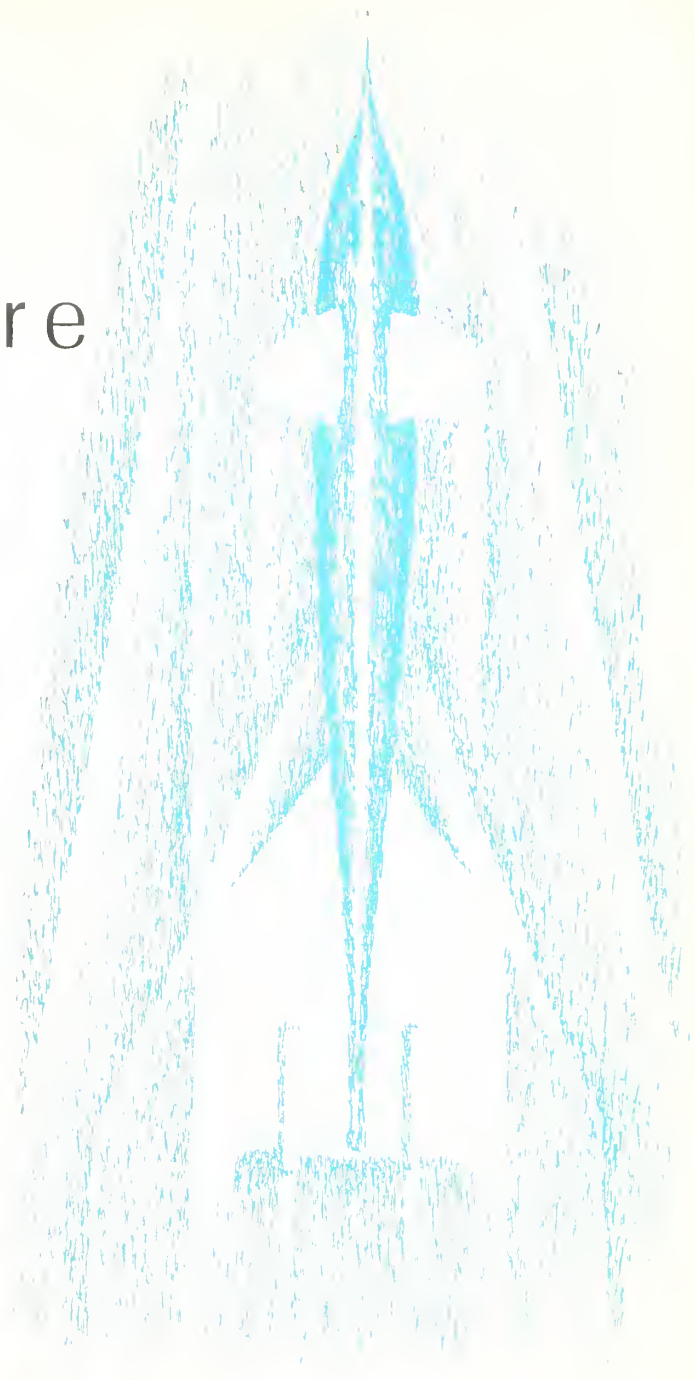

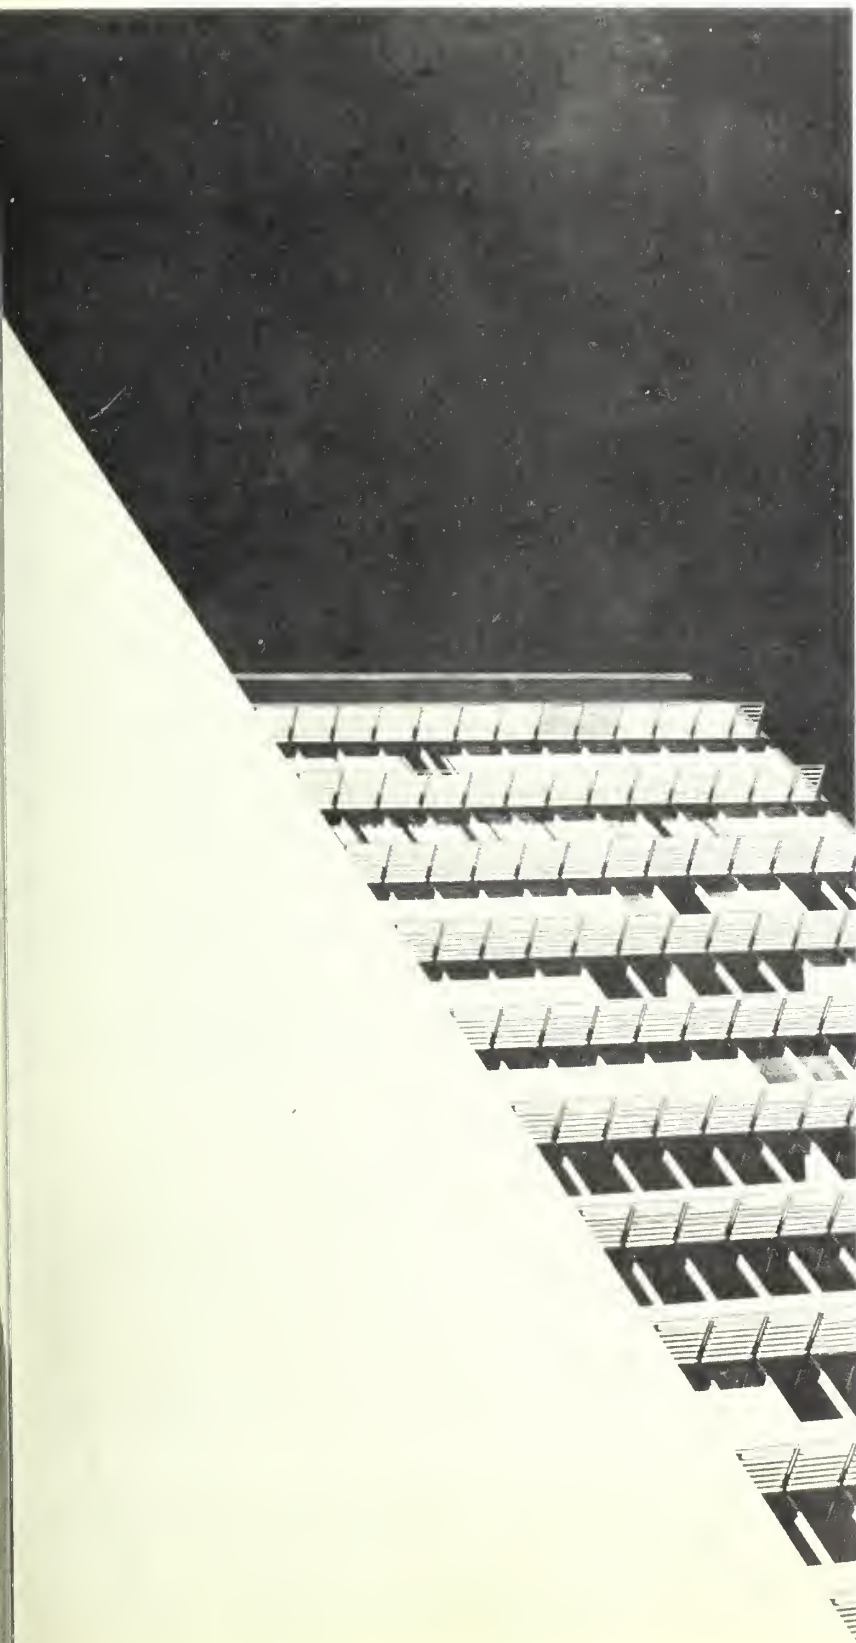

Striving for unending progress, Arkansas stands as a symbol for all others to follow. A state that is revered as one of able leadership and undying loyalty by the people toward those things that are believed to be just. Similarly, Arkansas State College continues on a road of progress toward the attainment of cherished goals; toward the attainment of university status. Working together, these two institutions offer a chance for advancement and confidence to look toward the future. Learning from their mistakes and profiting from their achievements, they look forward to future service to the people of the state of Arkansas.

ull of activities, life

A vital part of our college lives is the integration of our social and personal lives with the educational opportunities afforded us by our school. We have come here for one specific purpose, that purpose being the attainment of higher knowledge so that we may better face the future that we are someday to be a part. Our ultimate conception of the importance of this is paramount.

President Holds Annual Reception

AT THE ANNUAL President's Reception Dr. Reng, Mr. Owen and Dr. Hazelbaker greet the freshmen and graduating seniors.

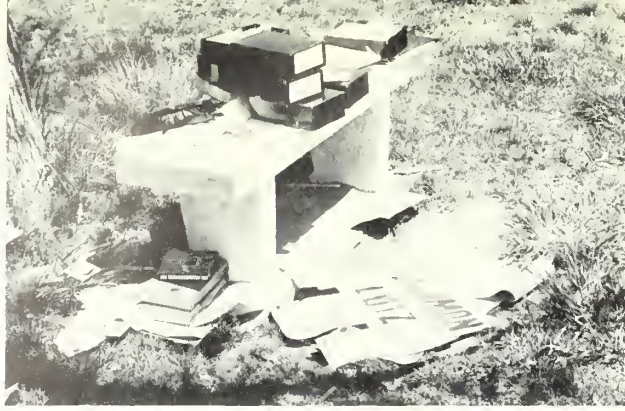

MRS. ROBERT KLUGE from the Faculty Women's Club serves punch to one of the incoming freshmen. Because of the growth of our school only freshmen and seniors are invited to attend.

AT EACH RECEPTION the fraternities and sororities appoint delegates to assist the President in greeting the students.

THE AFTERMATH of elections finds campaign posters, cards and pictures strewn over the campus as students anxiously await the results.

JERRY LUTZ, First Vice-President, and Mike Phillips, Sophomore Representative, find that victory has its drawbacks as they are sent swimming.

A POLLING BOOTH was operated strictly by the rules. No campaigners were allowed to coerce the voters.

MEMBERS OF THE Rebel Party hold a strategy meeting to map out plans to stop the opposition.

THE THREE BIG victors of the day were Don DeArmon, President, Sue Cato, Second Vice-President and Jerry Lutz, First Vice-President.

AFTER RECEIVING their diplomas, the nineteen sixty graduating class left the auditorium as an interested audience watched them parade by.

TO UNDERSTAND THE fantasies of science involves years of work and desire. A college education gives us the impetus to proceed.

A Year Of

A-STATE STUDENTS ARE avidly interested in the world around them and the happenings that, after graduation, may some day affect their lives.

Accomplishment

The close of each year brings to many the close of approximately 16 years of education beginning with the first grade in grammar school leading to the highest dream of all — that of a college degree.

Graduation offers a tremendous challenge for the seniors. They are finally faced with the realization that their school years are over. What are they going to do now? This presents much worry and consultation before reaching that decision. However, the students realize that they are prepared to meet any crisis in this life. The only thing left to do is to go onward and meet the challenge.

Graduation is the fulfillment of one dream, and also the first step of the ladder of life into the world of adulthood. The challenge is there. So is the crisis. The opportunity to combat the crisis to meet the challenge is an experience shared by all the graduates. It is trying at times but also rewarding.

EACH YEAR BRINGS to many the realization of a long sought-after dream — a college diploma.

A-STATE'S COLORFUL marching band gained the recognition from others this year as being one of the foremost college bands in the nation.

Agri Day, Lambda Chi Pushcart Derby

As Greeks of the olden days used to participate in the annual chariot races with much enthusiasm, so the Greeks on the A-State campus have their "races" in the form of the "Little 500" Pushcart Derby, sponsored by Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity.

This affair attracted most of the students on campus because of the "professionally" constructed pushcarts and the unusually wild color combinations accented on them.

Along with the Pushcart Derby at the close of the year came the Agri Day Rodeo. A week-long rain preceeding the event provided a hinderance for the cowboys racing for exact timing and skill that are essential to outstanding riding in this event. However, this handicap for the cowboys paved the way for entertainment not usually enjoyed at such an affair.

Each year the Agriculture Department sponsors the Agri Day Rodeo to present to the students a different type of entertainment and to give the Agri students an opportunity to improve on their skills that are usually beneficial to them during the summer vacation.

WITH A BRAHMA bull on the loose, an Agri Day Clown decides that discretion is the better part of valor.

PREPARING FOR THE start of the second annual Lambda Chi Alpha Pushcart Derby, the three A-State sororities man their vehicles.

"THE POLKADOTTED MONSTER" was the winner in the women's division of the Lambda Chi Derby.

BOTH THE SPECTATORS and the participants felt the results of a rainy week. The Agri Day Rodeo was one of the muddiest ever staged.

HAVING PICTURES MADE for the student identification cards is necessary for admittance to all student activities on campus.

The Freshmen Are Oriented

KAY HASSELL WAS third place winner in the Freshman Talent Show. Mike Phillips, Master of Ceremonies, was justly rewarded for his work.

THE JONESBORO CHAMBER of Commerce Street Dance for incoming freshmen is an annual school event.

GARY HANNERS WAS awarded second place in the Talent Contest for his arrangement of Whispering Hope.

OLLIE WARREN RECEIVES his first place award from M. C. Mike Phillips for his drum solo.

A Week Of Sorority Rush Parties

PRIOR TO THE beginning of Rush Week the girls are issued their invitations to the various sorority rush parties.

AFTER RECEIVING THEIR invitations, the rushees are off on a week of parties and decisions before pledging a sorority.

RUSH WEEK IS a combination of meeting people and having fun. Here, the Phi Mus join with a group of rushees to sing Old Man River.

Glenn Miller Among Fall Entertainment

Big-time entertainment came to the A-State campus in a big way this year.

Realizing its need for such entertainment that would increase the students' well-rounded educational program, the Student Government Association engaged the famous Glenn Miller dance band for a night's performance. This band played for three and a half hours to a packed auditorium.

The Glenn Miller Band's coming opened the door to a full year of special entertainment provided by A-State's own well-known dance band, Bill Bell and The Tribe, the Redskin Ramblers Dixieland Band and the well-known rock and roll group, Bill English and the Spiders.

With this trend toward popular entertainers also came Bill Justus and his Jury. This popular rock and roll band highlighted the homecoming dance honoring the queen and victorious A-State Indians.

BILL ENGLISH and "The Spiders", a jazz combo, perform for the freshmen during orientation.

BILL JUSTUS of "Raunchy" fame played for the victorious Indians at the homecoming dance on Nov. 15. One of the largest crowds ever, flocked to hear this famous named band.

STUDENT GOVERNMENT officers brought to the campus the Original Glenn Miller Orchestra early in the fall semester.

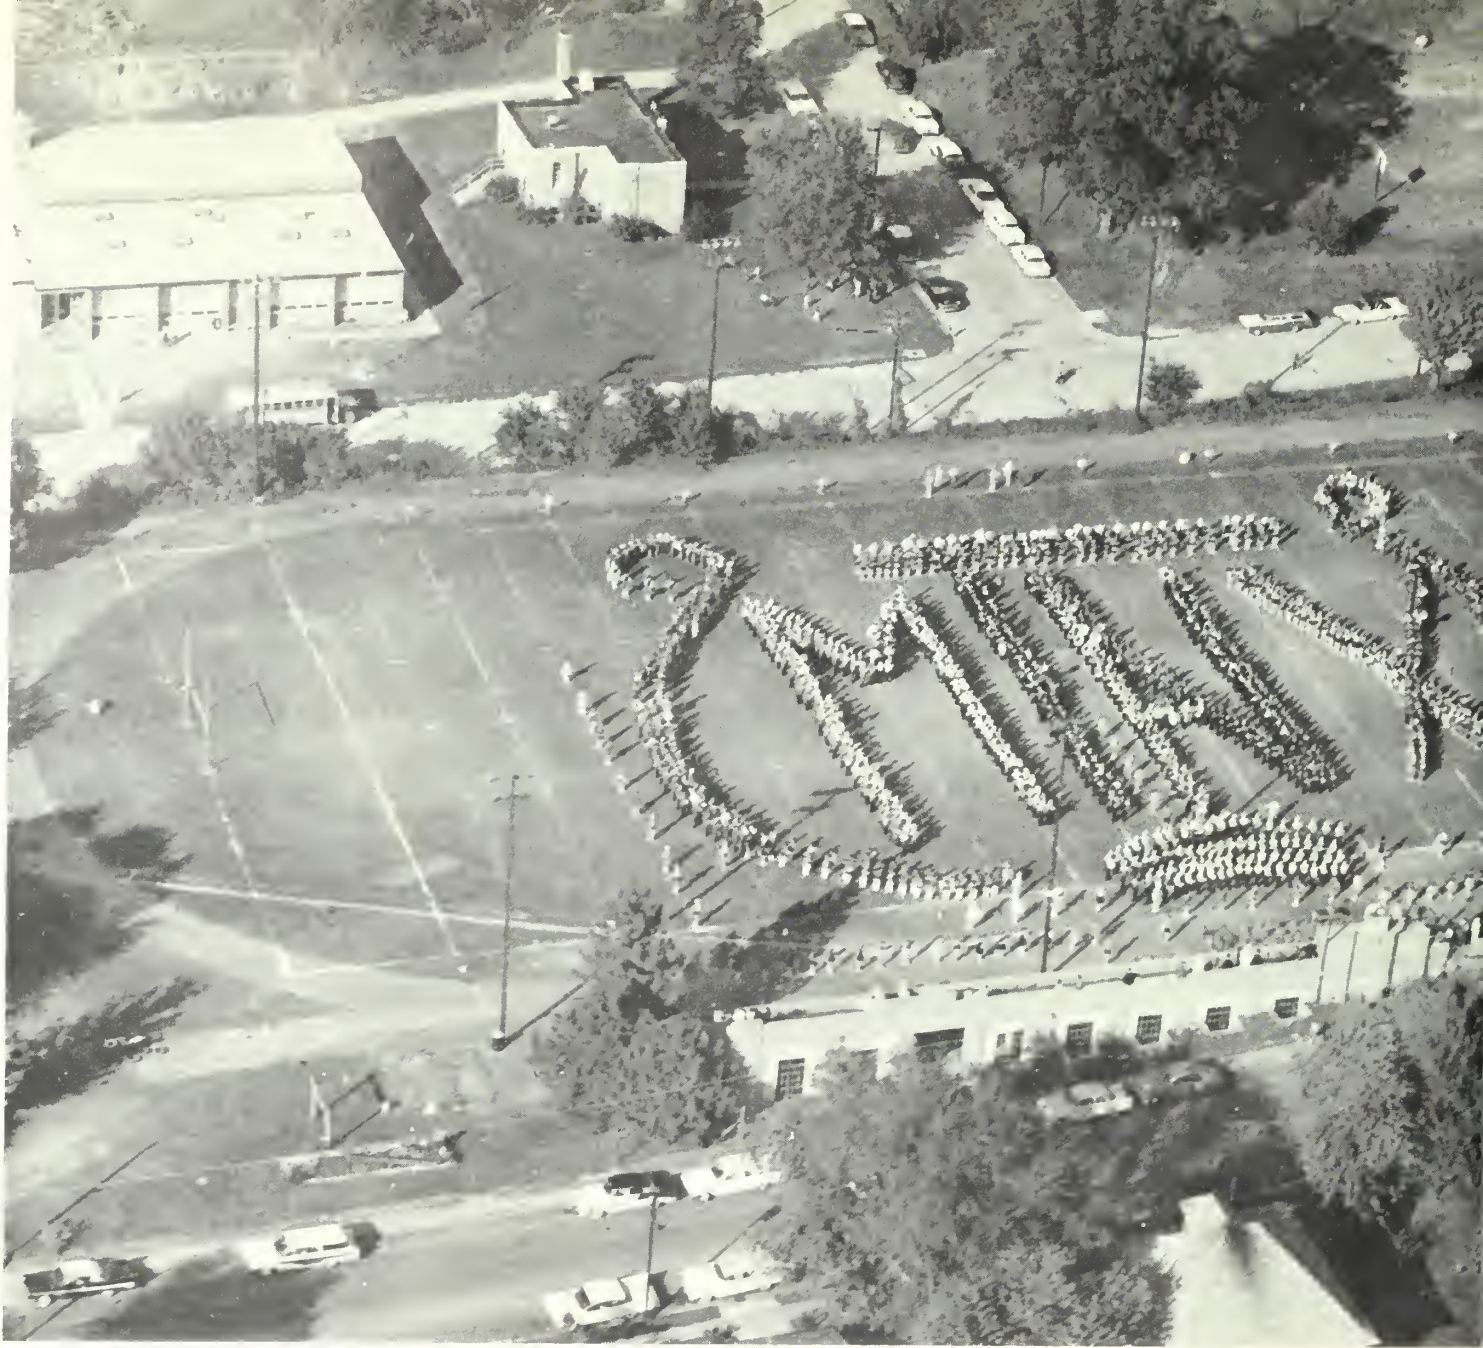

ROTC STUDENTS were entertained with exhibitions such as this on the arts of judo and gymnastics.

FEATURED VOCALIST of Bill Bell and The Tribe is Marilyn Kee. The Tribe played at various dances throughout the year.

Minx Is Honored At Band Festival

THE REDSKIN RAMBLERS, a Dixieland band, represents Arkansas State at high schools and also entertain at various school events.

PRIOR TO THE SHOW, Jerry Lutz and Don De Armon talked with Ray McKinley, the director of the orchestra.

A-STATE'S BAND DIRECTOR, Don Minx, was honored at the Southeast Missouri Band Festival. The "Marching Indians" were the featured attraction.

UNDER THE DIRECTION of Ray McKinley, the Original Glenn Miller Orchestra was a hit with the students and faculty.

THE TRIBE, under the direction of Bill Bell, is composed entirely of students from Arkansas State.

BSU Pre-Holiday

BRINGING CHEER TO those who were sick in the hospital was included in the Thursday night Missions program.

Complete spiritual satisfaction for a person can be obtained only after he has participated in some religious atmosphere whether it be in his own private daily devotionals or in a church or religious building.

At college a student is faced with a very grim and stirring decision to make — that of continuing his relationship with God or giving up and going with the crowd.

In hopes of combating any student's thinking of doing such a thing as going with the crowd, the doors of the Baptist Student Union are opened daily. A student may come to the BSU at anytime for a quiet time with God or to seek fellowship with a Christian crowd.

MEMBERS OF BSU visited the Craighead County Jail on the eve of the Christmas holidays.

EACH YEAR THE BSU holds a Kollege Karnival to enable students to better acquaint themselves with BSU activities.

ALL SORTS OF GAMES were played. This one called "Ring the Duck" was one of many at the Karnival.

MICHAEL PHILLIPS TRIES his luck at a baseball throw while at the Karnival. Mike wanted a prize but lacked the ability.

MARLIN JENNINGS OF THE First Baptist Church of Jonesboro leads an evening devotional. Devotionals are held twice daily.

Gala Homecoming Weekend Begins

Homecoming is that time of the year that affords us the opportunity to unleash our energies in a ravage of displays, pep rallies, football games and open houses. This year's was no exception, and according to most, it was the greatest homecoming in the history of the school.

Reigning over the festivities was petite Sue Cato, a senior education major from Walnut Ridge. Her maids were Mary Faye Jones of Gideon, Mo., Donnie Ruth Williams of Hornersville, Mo., Mary Mahfouz of Stuttgart and Barbara Clifton of Harrisburg. All five royal maidens presided over the weekend of football and dancing.

Bill Justus of "Raunchy" fame was engaged by the SGA to play for the evening dance that culminated the weekend. One of the largest crowds in recent years came to listen and dance to the music of the famous recording artist and his band.

The colorful displays were the best ever. Under the vigilant eyes of homecoming chairman, Jerry Lutz, the displays were placed in various categories. Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity won the mechanical division while Phi Mu fraternity copped top honors in the stationary with lights division. In the stationary without lights division the winner was Scabbard and Blade military fraternity.

But, the best part of the entire weekend was when an inspired Indian team that was a 30-point underdog came from behind to win in a very gallant fashion.

Yes! It was a very enjoyable experience. Homecoming, 1960.

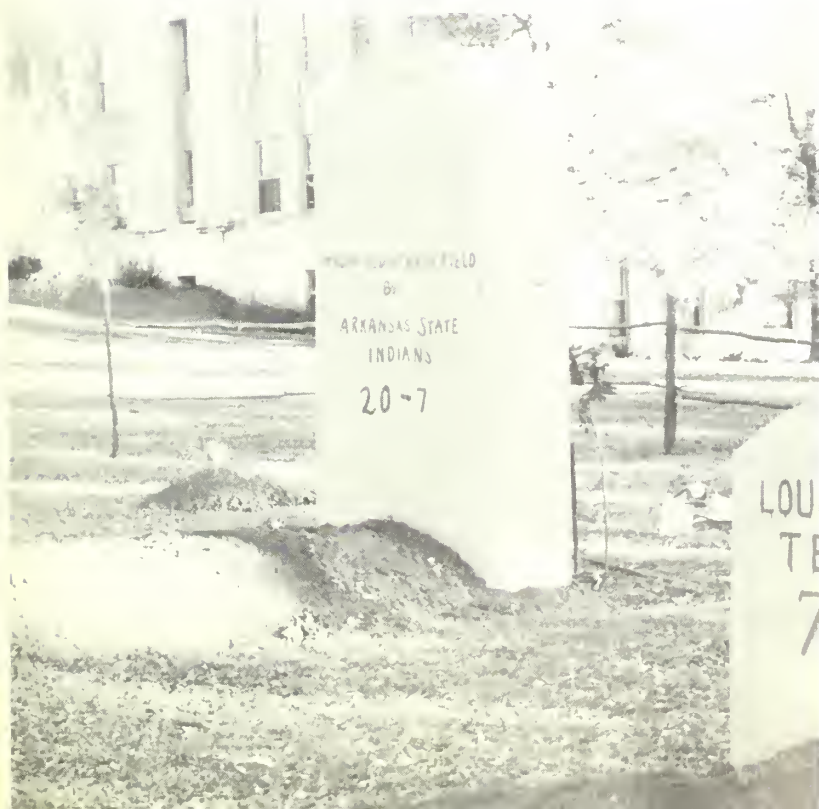

THE WINNING DISPLAY in the mechanical division was this one by Pi Kappa Alpha Fraternity depicting a Riverboat that was "Pullin' for the Indians."

HIGHLIGHTING THE beginning of Homecoming was the gigantic bonfire and pep rally to help inspire the Indians to victory over Mississippi Southern.

THE FIRE DEPARTMENT was engaged to fill the container that the Pikes built to house the display. The night-lighting of this display provided a spectacular sight.

CHEROKEE MEN'S COUNCIL built this display that doomed the Southerners to certain defeat; it proved effective.

Petite

HOMECOMING QUEEN Sue Cato of Walnut Ridge reigned over the gala festivities. Gene Blankenship, freshman class president, was her escort.

WORKING ON THE displays was a sight to behold. The deadline was at noon and no one finished ahead of schedule.

LARRY SMITH IS silhouetted by the flaming bonfire as he leads the students in a rousing cheer prior to the game.

Sue Cato Reigns

THE ALPHA GAMS built their display next to the Women's New Dorm. All sororities entered the stationary division.

Spirit Rises As Weekend Begins

THE ELEMENT'S COULDN'T hamper the Chi O spirit. Their background was blown down, but "It's what's up front that counts."

JERRY LUTZ AND Gene Blankenship seem interested in something. Gene wasn't too happy though, the freshmen lost the tug-o-war.

CIRCLE "K" INTERNATIONAL was in charge of the Homecoming elections this year. They supervised, counted and released the results.

IT TAKES A LOT of work to erect a display. Plans are made weeks in advance of Homecoming weekend.

THE SIGMA PI fortress was another victim of the inopportune wind storm. This display took fourth place honors.

AFTER TWO DAYS and nights of constant work this display worker seems all in. Jimmy Goff calls it a day and goes to sleep.

Colorful Displays

TAU KAPPA EPSILON won third-place in the mechanical division with their display of "Block and Company."

WITH THE CARE and attention attributed a baby the Lambda Chi's unload part of their display.

LAMBDA CHI ALPHA'S display predicting the death of the Southerners was the second place winner in the mechanical division.

EATING A MOON PIE and drinking an R.C. Cola was the object of this figure. Ron Carmack and Eddie Wooldrige make final preparations.

Circle 'K' Presents Third Annual Miss

DONNIE RUTH WILLIAMS was crowned Miss Arkansas State. Runners-up were Elizabeth Tidwell of Dell and Kay Hassell of Chatfield.

COORDINATOR OF THE contest was Circle "K" International who sponsors the event for finances to aid their service projects.

FORMER MISS ASC JoAnn Johnson crowns her successor, Donnie Ruth Williams.

Wesley Foundation Offers Entertainment

Another religious organization on campus which offers spiritual guidance and a place for good clean fun is that of the Wesley Foundation.

Once housed in a small frame building which is now being used by another religious group, the Wesley Foundation is now conducting devotionals and special entertainment in a beautiful yellow brick building.

This building serves as a student union building but on a smaller scale. It houses a large recreational room which can be petitioned off to make two such rooms. A complete kitchen is also furnished there offering to students the chance to pop popcorn or fix any such snack.

The devotionals are presented by students in the Wesley Chapel which leads off from the recreational room. This chapel will seat approximately 100 persons and serves as a place for private devotions, too.

PLAYING PING PONG was a thing experienced by those "Dateless Wonders" who showed up stag at the Wesley party.

A DRAMATIC SCENE is portrayed by these five Wesleyans. The play was the Wesley Players Fall pledge project.

WESLEY PLAYERS PRESENTED a religious drama called "The Littlest Angel."

BEARDED CHARLES HUGHES and date attended the Wesley Party in the most appropriate attire. His goatee was immaculate.

THESE TWO SEEM to be enjoying themselves at the Wesley Foundation. But, what's the regalia the girl's wearing?

TWO TURKEYS WERE presented to the members of the Craighead County Old Folks Home by the members of Lambda Chi Alpha Fraternity.

Holiday Time At Arkansas State

- As the holiday season drew near the students in all departments began to hustle around busying themselves with tests, parties and fun.

During this season came the annual AWS St. Nick Dance which presented the new St. Nick and Miss Merry Christmas to the students.

Music students were busy with their Christmas program for the television and the public performance of Bach's Oratorio.

Dorm parties, departmental get-togethers and the excitement usually felt during this season kept the students on the go. At the same time they were hustling around trying to get things together to take home and, oh yes, the Christmas shopping they had to do.

A State was a scene of confusion, but yet not completely. The excitement filled the air with a sweet chant of the true meaning of this happy season, too.

THE WOMEN STUDENTS OF Arkansas State choose their St. Nick and he is announced at the annual pre-Christmas dance.

THE OPERA WORKSHOP of the Music Department presented "The Lowland Sea" opera as part of the Christmas celebrations.

SIG EP NORTON WILSON of Pine Bluff was crowned St. Nick. Carolyn Check was named Miss Merry Christmas.

NORTON WAS SELECTED St. Nick from a list of ten boys. He was sponsored by Phi Mu Sorority.

THE CAST OF "The Lowland Sea" is seen on stage in Wilson Auditorium. It was one of the most touching performances of the year.

Tau Kappa Epsilon Initiates Elvis

It happened last fall. The Tekes initiated into their fraternity the world famous actor and recording artist Elvis Presley. Needless to say, it took the rest of the student body by surprise when the headlines of the Herald read that Elvis was then a member of Arkansas State's chapter of Tau Kappa Epsilon.

Many of us remember the "old days" as Elvis calls them, when he was playing for audiences in Jonesboro, Bono and A State as an obscure rock and roll singer. Elvis' spectacular rise to stardom and prominence is no secret to us. We have followed his career throughout the years and are happy to have him as a part of Arkansas State.

RONALD REAGAN OF motion picture and television fame came to Jonesboro last fall as a representative of General Electric Corporation.

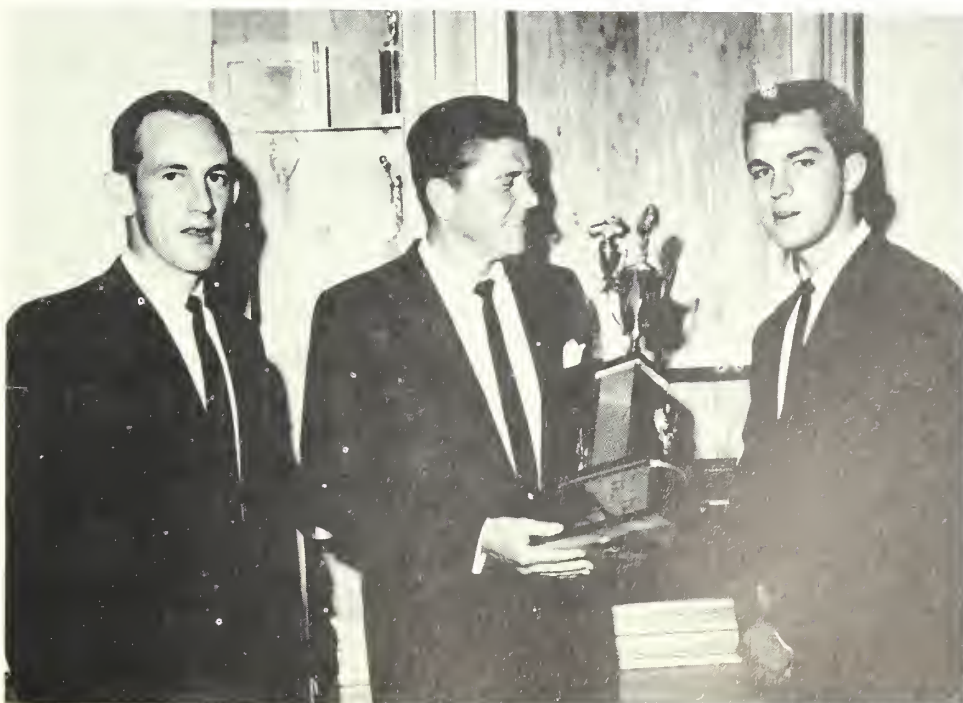

ELVIS RECEIVES AN award from the A-State Tau Kappa Epsilon chapter as the Distinguished Teke of the Year. The world famed recording artist was initiated by Beta Psi Chapter last fall.

STANDING WITH ELVIS in front of his Graceland Mansion are Jeff Shearer, Rich Husky, Bob Howe and Don DeArmon.

RONALD REAGAN visited the TEKE fraternity suite while at A-State. Mr. Reagan is also a member of Tau Kappa Epsilon fraternity.

Married Life--Commonplace In College

JIMMY McMURRAY, stellar quarterback and one of A-State's many married students, is confronted with two problems—studying and attending to his daughter.

It won't come as a surprise to anyone that, today, more married couples are attending college than ever before in our history. This "explosive generation" has realized that, even though teenage marriages are more numerous than in the past, that an educational background is essential to successful and prosperous lives.

Here at Arkansas State it is no exception to the rule. Approximately 18% of our students are married. The school has recognized this quota and has constructed more than 150 housing units on campus. They are comprised of 50 houses and 100 trailers. In addition to this, many students live off campus, in apartments and other trailer courts.

The many problems confronting these married students are not sufficient to offset the fact that inroads to accomplishment are arrived at through education.

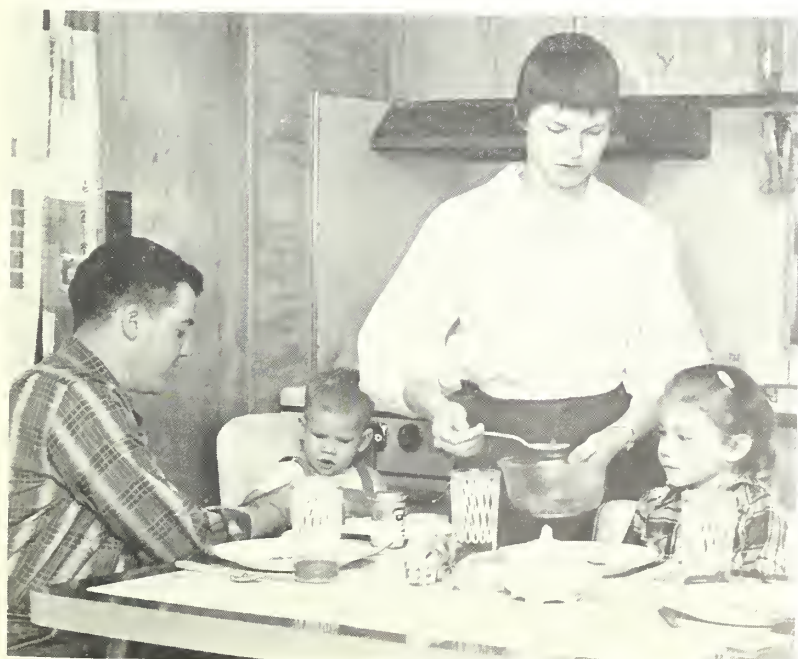

A COMPREHENSIVE VIEW of both Indian and Trailer Villages can be seen from atop the Hanger Building on the southern end of the campus.

THE McMURRAYS, Jimmy, Betty Jo and Susan, live in Indian Village. Both of the McMurrays are attending school in addition to raising a family.

ARVIN ARTHUN and family live in Trailer Village. Arvin is a printing major from Wyoming and will soon be a commissioned Army Officer.

AT HOME IN THEIR trailer the Arthuns and their two children are among the nearly one hundred and fifty married couples living on campus.

Present 'Dial M'

"Dial M for Murder" was the second production of the year for the Arrowhead players, and likewise, the second production for drama instructor E. Shaw Robison. The play was written by Frederick Knott and was a big success both on the stage and in Hollywood.

"Dial M" as presented in Wilson Auditorium last March was considered by many to be one of the best plays in recent years to be produced here.

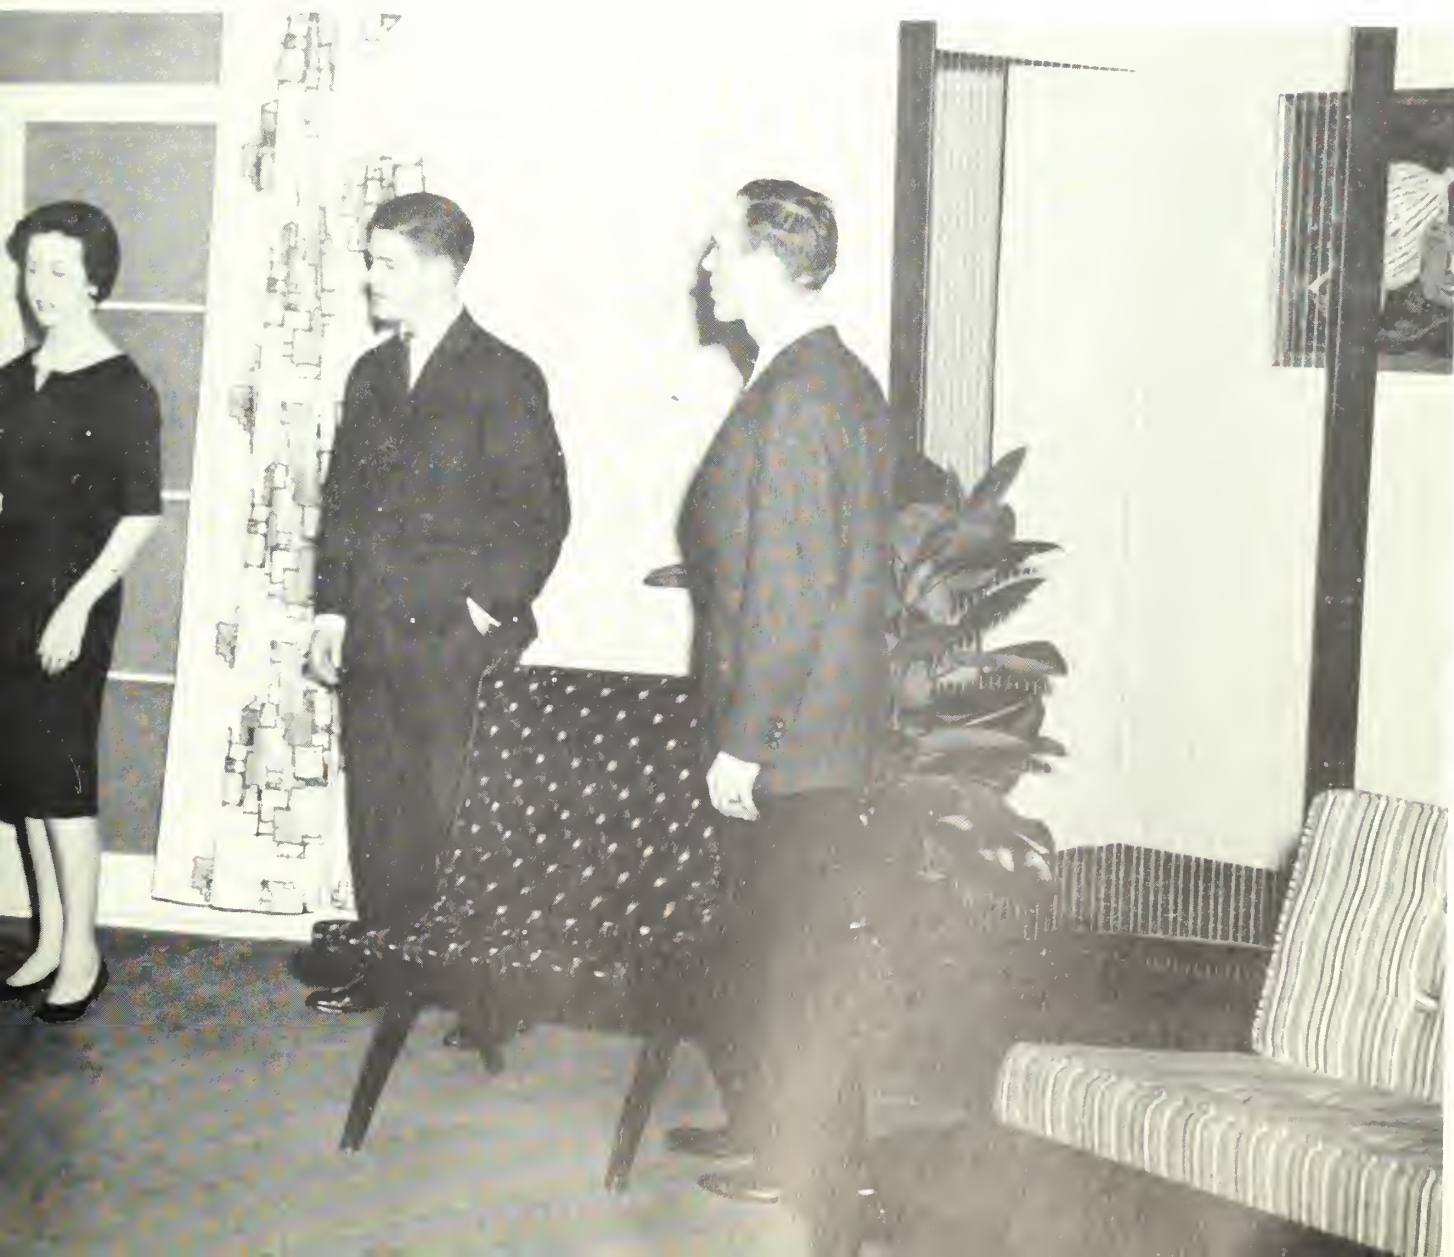

In addition to the outstanding jobs of acting, the scenery was also a subject of many compliments and a credit to the people that worked behind the scenes with little or no recognition for their hard work.

Despite such incidents as Fred Applegate's infected foot and Jo Ellen Barr's laryngitis, the play went over with the audience at each of the three presentations.

Cadets Try Hands At Rifle Firing

All male students at Arkansas State are required at least two years of ROTC training if they are physically able. And of that large number, only a select few enter the advanced course of training, which, if they complete successfully, will lead to an army commission. Upon entering the advanced course they accept new responsibilities, one of which is upholding the summer camp tradition already established.

To develop proficiency, the cadets were required to fire the M-1 rifle on three different occasions plus a Field Training Exercise and a leadership reaction course. Their efforts will better prepare them for this summer's training.

THE CADETS fired at the gravel pit this year. Captain McClain (second from left) served as range officer on both occasions.

WHILE ONE CADET was firing, another served as instructor to correct the mistakes and give advice.

IT LOOKS EASY, doesn't it? But, firing from 300 yards makes a big difference, especially if a stiff wind is blowing.

IT TOOK all afternoon for the cadets to fire approximately 75 rounds of ammunition apiece.

Chi Omega

CHI OMEGA'S first dance on campus was entitled "Arabian Nights." As at all dances, the decorators took all night to finish.

CHI-O dignitaries from National Headquarters and from the chapter of Southwestern of Memphis, presided over activities at initiation.

Omicron Zeta — the 126th chapter of Chi Omega and the second chapter in the State was installed on the Arkansas State campus Saturday, February 25th.

For the occasion, Chi Omega's national president, Miss Elizabeth Dyer of Cincinnati, Ohio, was here. Also here was Mrs. Larue Bowker, the national treasurer, of Little Rock and Miss Christelle Ferguson of Baton Rouge, La., the editor of the national publication of Chi O, "The Elusis."

Kappa Beta Chapter of Southwestern University of Memphis, Tenn., was in charge of the installation. The impressive ceremony was held in the new chapter's suite in the lower arcade of the Women's Residence Hall.

THAT EVENING after the initiation, the Chi-O's held their dance in the gym. The gifts to their dates were very appropriate.

ALL THE INITIATES gathered in the sorority suite for the ceremonies.

Harry James Plays His Magic Trumpet

THE MAJORITY of the faculty comes each year to enjoy the music at the Military Ball.

SOME DANCE, some just rest. The annual MS Ball is always a much anticipated event each year.

HARRY LOOKS around at the record breaking crowd that came especially to listen to him play.

HARRY JAMES, a world renowned trumpeter, plays a solo at the request of those who came especially to hear him.

JERRY WATKINS and Jeanie Bailey decided to take a break. Jeanie was named Honorary Cadet Captain for the Band.

ALL SENIOR ROTC cadets went through the receiving line with their dates to start off the Ball.

FROM ATOP THE pressbox, the size of the crowd at the Military Ball can be estimated.

HONORARY CADETS for the Companies and Battle Group Staff were announced at intermission. Sally Mickey (second from right) was named Honorary Cadet Colonel.

NORMAN WARD and an unidentifiable (?) had the job of decorating the ceiling for the Ball.

BOBBY ERWIN was in charge of preparing a place for the photographer to take pictures. His final product is seen on the opposite page.

THE STUDIOUS SENIOR, the tidy type. He takes studying with a grain of salt because he knows it's his last semester.

Need we say any more about the college that we attend than has been learned throughout this year? Indeed, we are fortunate that we have been offered an opportunity to better ourselves, as well as, the public of which we are a part. This has been a good year from all standpoints. But, let us not stop — whether we graduate now or whether we remain to continue the development of our minds.

Arkansas State Board of Trustees

THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES of Arkansas State College is composed of five members appointed by the governor of the state for five year terms. The Board, in turn, appoints the president of the college along with its various other duties.

Presently the Board consists of Russell Owen, chairman of the Board and with the Ritter Company in Marked Tree; Max Poe, prominent member of the dry goods business in Pocahontas; William Wyatt, an important planter in Blytheville; J. H. Smith, also a planter and a stock raiser from Birdeye; and Van Smith, vice-president of the Bank of Tuekerman.

Four of the five members of the board are former students of Arkansas State College. J. H. Smith is the only one who attended school elsewhere.

Dr. Reng came to Arkansas State College in 1951 and since that time he has been one of the most inspirational presidents in the history of the school. Dr. Reng's ability and effort in all phases of college administration have won wide acclaim throughout the state and the south. His capabilities in the fields of advancing Arkansas State into a college of university potential are recognizable to all concerned. In our drive toward the attainment of university status, we have been guided by the knowledge of Dr. Carl R. Reng. We, the faculty and student body of Arkansas State, have to be thankful, indeed, for the day that Dr. Reng left his Iowa home to take over and plan the destiny of this institution.

Modern Agriculture

Arkansas State is located in one of the finest agricultural areas in the nation and, therefore, lends itself well to a teaching program in agriculture. The college farm is ample and well equipped with buildings, facilities, livestock and machinery for instructional purposes. The courses are made practical by use of these facilities as well as others available in the community.

The course offerings in various divisions of the Department of Agriculture afford students the opportunity of pursuing studies in the various phases of agriculture in which they are most interested. Arkansas State College is now fully approved by the United States Office of Education and by the State Board for Vocational Education of Arkansas as a teacher-training institution for teachers of vocational agriculture.

The main objectives of the college program are to give thorough preparation in the science and practices basic to agriculture and to provide a liberal as well as a practical general education.

Producing Capable

The Department of Business and Economics has two objectives: first, to offer students a broad basic college education enabling them to do advanced graduate study; and second, to prepare students for participation in the various business and economic occupation of their choice, including the teaching of business subjects. The Basic Education program and certain tool courses are designated as needed preparation for advanced study in the business and economics area. These subjects are recommended for the first and second year and lead to specialized study during the third and fourth years of work.

Majors may be obtained in the fields of accounting, economics, business administration and business education. Also, by an approved selection of courses, a two-year secretarial training certificate may be obtained without completion of a degree.

Effort is made to acquaint students with the practical side of business through visits to various businesses and lectures by men of distinction in the business fields.

or Tomorrow

Arkansas State is organized to assume the responsibility of giving teacher-education a professional emphasis. The Department of Education and Psychology aims to secure this professional emphasis by providing experiences that will enable the prospective teacher to develop a practical common sense philosophy of education that is sound, workable, growing and democratic.

Education students are helped to develop leadership in directing the learning experiences of pupils, and to develop a sense of responsibility as a member of the total school organization and the teaching profession.

The professional emphasis for teaching is further stressed through pre-teaching laboratory experiences and active participation in educational organizations such as Student National Education Association and Kappa Delta Pi (a national honorary educational fraternity).

PSYCHOLOGY COURSES are a basic requirement for all students in fulfilling their basic degree curriculum at A-State.

Cultivating The

The Department of Fine Arts believes that an emphasis should be placed upon man's aesthetic reactions and responses to his environment. Toward the realizations of this basic philosophy, the department provides general classes for all students in addition to majors in art and music.

Opportunities for students to develop and discover inherent capacities and talents are offered through membership in various ensembles. The Choral Union is composed of students interested in singing, while the Arkettes, Arkatesmen and ASC Singers are chosen from auditions. The concert band is open to all qualified students.

One of the main purposes of the Fine Arts Department is to encourage students to develop a more sensitive consciousness of design and beauty in the common things in nature and daily life. This purpose is accentuated through the departmental organizations and activities such as concerts and art exhibits.

Ages Of Literature

Through years of struggle and determination in attempting to attain skills in English we come to realize that facility in the use of this language is perhaps the most important tool of learning.

To afford this tool to the students at Arkansas State the Department of Languages and Literature has set up a liberal education program. This program provides training in communication skills and contact with the liberating influences of the humanities through majors in English, theater and foreign languages.

Study and discussion of various phases of the literature program are encouraged through the departmental organizations, and the honorary fraternities.

An annual event on campus is the speech festival which is directed and sponsored by the speech students in the department.

AN INTEGRAL PART of the basic ROTC course is development of marksmanship. Here, A-State students practice on the school's firing range.

Training Future

The Military Science Department attempts to provide training in basic military knowledge and leadership to all eligible male students entering college, and to train advanced students to qualify, on graduation, for commissions as junior officers in the Army of the United States.

ROTC classes provide instruction in military history, tactics, map reading, and weapons care; while drill periods afford lessons in drill and give cadet officers experiences in command. Sponsors are chosen by the cadets to assist the battalion staff in the more formal phases of drill.

A-State's ROTC unit is currently rated as the top corps in the 4th Army Headquarters. The students of this year are expected to carry on in the tradition set by this unit.

TO FIND SOME spare time is a problem in itself, but whenever that is possible, you will always be able to find a game of basketball or volleyball going on somewhere down at the gymnasium.

Physical Abilities

The Department of Physical Education attempts to stimulate interest in wholesome recreational activities for all students, besides providing courses for college requirements.

The department directs the intramural program, which is one of the most active programs on campus. This pits students in competitive activities from football to bowling to archery, offering fun and activity for all participants.

Activities such as the twirling and cheerleading clinics are held to stimulate state-wide interest in physical education and recreation.

The departmental clubs encompass a large number of students, and lend to the spirit and morale of the department. The "A" Club is composed of athletic lettermen, female participants in intramurals comprise the WAA, while P.E. majors and minors make up the PEMM Club.

SWIMMING IN THE A-State pool is a popular recreational sport with most students. The pool is open all week, admission is free.

Constructing Skills

Editing and publishing the State College Herald and operating the college owned radio station, KASU, are only a few of the activities under the direction of the Department of Radio, Journalism, and Printing.

The department, through its varied courses and seminars in the newspaper office, radio control room, and print shop, tries not only to instruct, but to offer practice in the skills necessary to a professional in the journalism field. The instructors feel that having the knowledge is not enough in itself. The students must be able to put this knowledge to use in regular work-a-day situations.

Journalism Day and Broadcaster's Day are sponsored by the department to acquaint the students with other people interested in their field.

Scientific Minds

It is vital for students in this modern world to develop fundamental and scientific concepts. Students have found that the curriculum of the Science Department develops the skill and use of these concepts.

For those interested in pre-professional courses, the department provides a sound background for entry into a professional school upon leaving A-State.

Professional courses are offered in mathematics, chemistry, and biology.

Students majoring in physical science have formed the Meter-Liter Club, and the outstanding students in biology are recognized by membership in Beta Beta Beta, an honorary biological fraternity.

The Science and Mathematics Department is headed by Dr. W. W. Nedrow.

Understanding In

Preparing the student for citizenship is the aim of the Social Science Department. The department strives toward this aim by giving the student an understanding of his neighbors and a sympathy with their problems, a thoughtful explanation of the world of today.

Through the department students prepare for various vocations in the government, social work and in the public schools. Majors are offered in history, political science, home economics, social science, and sociology.

Organizations related to the Social Science Department include the Home Economics Club, International Relations Club, Sociology Club, and the Social Science Club.

Full of meetings, parties

Here at Arkansas State, we have at our command a vast assortment of organizations of which we could be a part. It is not important if that organization be a fraternity, a departmental or honorary group, but what we must realize is that it isn't through books alone that we educate ourselves, but rather through the combining of these interests that we find in our midst.

Student Government

About this time every year new officers take their positions of leadership on campus. But, the thing to see is that one month preceding, when the campaigns are in full swing. The handshaking, backslapping candidates seem to be everywhere trying to convince the voters that they can best fulfill the job.

For the third successive year the Progressive Student Party has scored decisive victories at the polls. And last year was their best ever. Their entire slate of candidates won easy decisions over the opponents.

To fulfill the confidence displayed in them by the voters, the new administration, under the guidance of Don DeArmon, Jerry Lutz, and Sue Cato, set forth upon a year of hard work and many late hours.

As we can now look back upon the happenings of the year, we can evaluate for ourselves the results of their labors. But, one thing we cannot deny them. Their devotion to their jobs has been more than fulfilled.

The State College Herald is written and edited by advanced journalism students. It is published weekly and distributed each Friday morning. The Herald was recently awarded a first class honor rating by the Associated Collegiate Press as one of the foremost college publications in its class.

Each Monday and Tuesday, if you happen by Room 324 of the Administration Building, you can see the editors hard at work. The copy isn't always plentiful, but when "Tex" releases his editors to overhaul his news writing class, he always gets results. The Herald has been published for 26 years now. By profiting from the critical view of the editors, the Herald approaches the idea of an authentic, day-to-day, local newspaper.

THE INDIAN

The Indian is an annual. It is a pictorial review of this year as we saw it, and as you experienced it. The 1961 Indian is indeed different from any we have had in the past. It depicts the lives of the students for which it was made and pays tribute to the state in which we live.

The staff set up headquarters in the Administration Building and there we stayed for a solid year. We requisitioned a typewriter and began work. We spent many long hours preparing this publication, and of course, it will fall short of the highest hopes that we had for it, but they always seem to do that.

The staff is through with it and it's now in your hands. Perhaps we have accomplished the task that we set for ourselves and for you. We hope so.

MARCHING IN THE Inaugural of President Kennedy was the highlight of the year of the "Marching Indians."

Now, for the final time . . .

That's not quite it . . .

"THE MARCHING INDIANS"

"The Pride Of Arkansas State" . . . these words fit the Marching Indians and their leader Don Minx. Minx took a rather green band, drilled it . . . and produced one of the best bands in the country. The Marching Indians are known throughout the area for their precision and perfection on the football field, in the parade, or wherever they appear. A feather in the cap of director Minx was the selection of the A State Band to appear in the Inaugural Parade in Washington, D. C. This was just one more thing that pointed to the Marching Indians as the Pride of Arkansas State.

FROM ATOP THE STADIUM the famous "Marching Indians" spell "ASC."

Omicron Zeta Chapter

Highlighting Phi Mu's spring semester is the tenth anniversary weekend, March 18-19 and the District XIV Convention held on the ASC campus.

"Pledge Pins on Display" was the theme of the annual fall pledge picnic held in the sorority suite. Other social events Phi Mu sponsored were the Enchantress Ball, the Spring Pledge Party, and the Phi Mu Playhouse.

Phi Mu coped many honors to be proud of this year. One of the most outstanding ones was the winning of the Homecoming Display. Sue Cato was chosen Homecoming Queen and Mary Faye Jones was Homecoming Maid.

Phi Mu teamed with Pi Kappa Alpha to win second place in the Playhouse. Sue Cato, Ruth Choate Wilkerson, and Brenda Griffin were elected to SGA. Linda Heath is a majorette, and Carol Carr and Jeannie Bailey serve as cheerleaders.

Chi Omega fraternity, the most recent national Greek sorority at ASC, received its charter February 25, 1961. Omicron Zeta is the 127th chapter of Chi Omega. The sorority was founded at the University of Arkansas in 1895.

A Wizard of Oz rush party shot the Chi O's off to a good start, with twenty-three girls pledging Chi Omega after fall rush.

In cooperation with the TKE fraternity the Chi Omegas won first place in the Phi Mu Playhouse. A contemporary theme won them third place in the homecoming displays. Chi Omega also participated in the Alpha Gam Talent Show, the Speech Festival, and the AOPi Song Fest.

Elizabeth Tidwell was runner-up in the Miss ASC Contest, and Mary Jane Scurlock was a Pike Sweetheart of the month. Honorary cadets include Linda Mitchell, Judy Nesbitt, and Rosemary Taggart.

Alpha Pi chapter of Sigma Pi fraternity was granted its charter March 4, 1948 to become the first national fraternity on the ASC campus.

Since its founding Sigma Pi has proved that there is no better training ground than the fraternity for promoting good social habits and customs, and an interest in scholarship, social affairs and athletics.

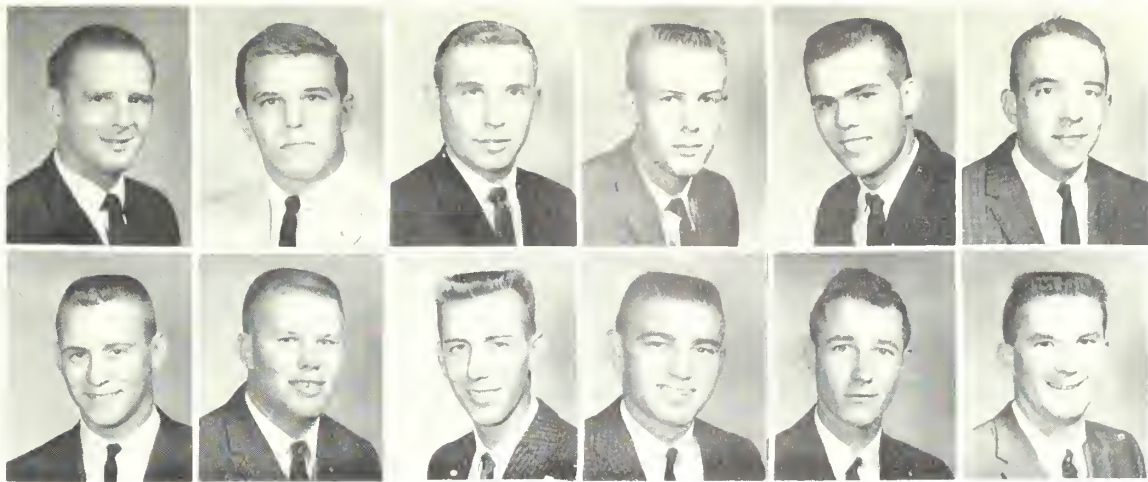

The annual Orchid Ball highlights Sigma Pi's social season; with Homecoming, Christmas, Founders' Day celebration rush parties, and numerous informal dances providing entertainment throughout the year.

Sigma Pi is well represented on the SGA by Jerry Malone, Billy Jones and Bobby Tucker.

Sigma Pi takes special pride in ASC intramurals, as they are always among the top contenders. A perfect 100 football record and a football trophy started off their program this year.

A year

l of spirit, competition

We can look back on this year, indeed, as one of success in the field of athletics. But what we well remember about this year was the exhuberation and spirit displayed on the football field, and the time they came from behind to defeat the heated rival. It is that type of thing that we will remember in the future years; we won't remember the score, that is irrelevant.

Athletic Staff

Guiding the athletic policies of Arkansas State is J. A. (Ike) Tomlinson, past president of the American College Baseball Coaches Association, one of the most highly respected men in collegiate circles. Ike came to State in December, 1943. He became director of athletics in 1946, after guiding the Indian football team in 1945. He continued to coach basketball, piloting his Redmen to two state NAIA championships. He began full time directorship duties after the 1949 season. Since that time he has coached only baseball.

Head football coach, King Block began his tenure at Arkansas State under the leadership of Gene Harlow. Later, Hugh Taylor took over as head coach, and Block was retained as backfield coach, continuing in this position through 1959, when he was elevated to his present position. Block attended high school in Twin Falls, Idaho, where he earned letters in football, basketball, baseball, and track. He was an all-state football and baseball player.

John Rauth begins his 12th season as Arkansas State's head basketball mentor. The colorful mentor has always produced an exciting team for A-State fans, and usually a winning one, as evidenced by his 156-112 record. Last year, for the second time in three years, the Indians earned a berth in the NCAA regional tournament. After finishing fast, and defeating a strong Loyola team, State was beaten by eventual division champion Evansville.

1960 FOOTBALL

The parents of King Block must have had a premonition for their son when they named him, for he not only lived up to his name, but, with the help of the finest coaching staff in Arkansas State's history, built an entire team of "Kings" as far as Indian football fans are concerned. Play after play, game after game, the Indians displayed a spirit of courage, determination, and teamwork that captured the hearts and imaginations of their supporters.

It was not a magnificent victory record that caused this glowing pride to prevail in Indianland, for the Tribe had what many would consider an average season. This pride appeared when Arkansas State football fans saw a group of fine, young men take the field, week after week, against over-whelming odds, and prove that teamwork is the key to great football.

The crowd that filled Kays Field for the Indians homecoming game with powerful Mississippi Southern, was spellbound by the stunning upset. Most of them sat speechless after A-State's remarkable last minute victory. It really wasn't unusual. That was the only way the 1960 Indians knew how to play.

A-State 6 - Northeast Louisiana 13

A former Louisiana State University "Chinese Bandit," an ex-all Southwest Conference end from the University of Arkansas, and 130 yards of Arkansas State penalties gave Northeast Louisiana a narrow victory over the fighting Indians in the season opener. The Tribe, making its debut under head Coach King Block gave little quarter on defense, but couldn't get moving offensively and compiled only 113 yards through the air and on the ground. In the most brutal football game seen at Brown Stadium in many years, the Indians gave fans a preview of the brilliant brand of football they were to display throughout the entire year. Penalties weighed heavily in Northeast's favor, stopping Redskin drives time-after-time. In spite of the loss, it was a victory in defeat for the Indians who revealed a fighting spirit that was to lead them to one of the finest seasons in the history of the school. State's spirit was undimmed even the next day when the squad voted to hold a rare Sunday workout. A-State fans could feel the tension in the air as the rugged Indians prepared for their second game of the 1960 season with Louisiana Tech, the number-one small college team in the nation.

SENIOR END Hassel McCain and Tackle Jerry Arant close the gap on a would-be ground gainer in the State's 7-3 victory over the No. 1 team in the nation.

ARKANSAS STATE'S first touchdown of the season was scored by fullback Allan Stolt on a seven yard plunge, after Jerry Arant had intercepted a pass.

Arkansas State 7 - Louisiana Tech 3

The number-one small college team in the nation invaded Indianville with a 10-game winning streak and the small college football crown. When the Bulldogs left the Redskin camp their crown was broken, their winning streak shattered, and their tails were tucked behind them. Armed with courage and desire the Indians just wouldn't be beaten as they upset a great Tech team 7-3. The score tells the story. It was rough! The Bulldogs were rated over the Tribe by 26 points and the experts said that was a conservative figure. In every respect — experience, weight, record, and tradition, the mighty Tech squad was favored over the Indians, but Tech was just one of the many teams that were soon to learn that odds mean nothing when you play the Indians. With King Block coaching from the press box, the Indians were magnificent. They put up a defense that kept so much pressure on the Tech backs that they could never get moving. On the offense Quarterback Jimmy McMurray turned in a brilliant performance as he gained 99 yards on a series of belly-option plays and swept end for the six-pointer. Halfback John Coffey booted the extra point. Ironically, the Bulldogs' winning streak ended right where it began a year ago with a victory over Arkansas State.

Arkansas State 19 - Florence State 0

A-State's Indians proved that their victory over Louisiana Tech was no fluke as they punched across three touchdowns for a 19-0 win over the Florence State Lions. The Lions could only muster one scoring threat, and that one faltered on the A-State 12 yard line when the Tribe held on downs. Florence was never able to get its passing attack in gear as 12 of 13 aerals went astray. Five of these fell into the hands of alert Indian defenders, namely Sammy Weir and Donnie Dunston. Weir picked off three Florence passes and Dunston got two. The Indians dented the scoring column early in the first quarter as Frank Smith,

Indian tackle, barged through the line and blocked an attempted punt off the toe of Guin Holland. Smith fell on the ball in the end zone and the Tribe took the lead 6-0. Early in the second quarter the Indians marched 47 yards for the touchdown after taking a short punt. It took 10 plays to reach pay dirt. Quarterback Jimmy McMurray crashed in from the one-yard line with two minutes gone in the second quarter. Peebles converted and the Tribe led 13-0. The final scoring thrust came late in the fourth period in a 59 yard drive highlighted by a run by Allan Stolt. Roy Nelson took a pitchout and scored standing up.

Arkansas State 9 - Mississippi State 29

For three and one-half quarters the Indians fought their hearts out against a heavily-favored Mississippi State squad and led the mighty Maroons twice in the game before finally losing 29-9. A-State drew first blood and carried a 6-0 lead well into the second quarter before Mississippi State finally forged into an 8-6 lead. The Tribe took heart and rebounded with a 23-yard field goal that gave them a 9-8 lead with four minutes remaining in the third period. The Maroons scored again and led 15-9 which stood until a fresh, third unit of Mississippians pushed across two quick touchdowns on A-State's weary first unit. The Redmen looked great in defeat as they outgained the Maroons on the ground, 230 yards to 192. It was a moral victory in that A-State played on even terms with Mississippi State's first and second units before finally falling before the Southeastern Conference team's superior depth. As in the case of most of the Indian success this season, it was a great team effort. Singling out a single star would be impossible. On the scoring drive the Indians mixed plays beautifully and the 6-0 lead gave the Maroons a scare they'll never forget. The Indians marched from their own 16 to paydirt in 16 plays, the longest of which was a 32-yard sprint up the sideline by Coffey. Two passes by McMurray — one to Coffey for nine yards and another to Tot Bentley for 13 — put the Redmen in scoring position.

A-State 7 - Montana State 26

The high rockies and the Montana State Bobcats were just too much to handle as Montana State overpowered the Indians at Bozeman, Montana. It was a long weekend for our Redmen as some of the players got sick, on the last part of the 1,700 mile trip. This, along with a one-mile-high altitude might have had something to do with the outcome of the game. State was outweighed in the line by twelve pounds per man — which is not an unusually large amount considering some other teams the Tribe has met. Head Coach King Block gave no excuses. His only comment was, "I'll tell you this, we won't have any more open dates on our schedules. Two-weeks of practice with no game is too much of a grind for us." Montana led the Indians in the first down department, 14-12. State however, outshone them in punting, averaging 43 yards on three boots. Montana had to punt five times for a 36-yard average. State's good punting was due to Bentley's 70 yarder in the second half that soared over the twin safeties even though they were back expecting a punt. The Indian's only score came when John Coffey went through the middle of the line and scored from 28 yards out. Peebles' extra point was true.

THE END OF THE LINE is in sight as the A-State Indians put pressure on the Bobcats of Montana State College.

THE INDIAN DEFENSE closes up on a Murray State Racer, as a host of Redmen prove the value of ball-pursuit. Another great defensive play!

Arkansas State 27 - Murray State 14

In a hard-fought triumph in which the Indians had to come from behind, A-State pulled out a victory over a vastly improved Murray State eleven. Senior halfbacks John Coffey and Roy Nelson led the Redskin drive in a rough and tumble game played in a pelting rain. Coffey gained 62 yards on seven carries and played what Head Coach King Block called "the best game of his career." Nelson caught three passes for 60 yards. Junior signalcaller Jimmy McMurray led the rushers with 63 yards. Senior quarterback Bobby Hogue scored two touchdowns, gained 33 yards and hit two passes for eight yards. Penalties were especially harmful, nullifying an Indian pass interception which would have prevented the first Murray touchdown and voiding an Indian pass completion in their second TD march. A-State missed a chance to regain the lead in the third quarter when Nelson intercepted a pass on his own 46 and returned it 21 yards to the Murray 35. The Redskins drove on to the 15 where Peebles missed a field goal try on a fourth and three situation. The Redskins went in front to stay early in the fourth quarter with a 79-yard drive that required 13 plays, highlighted by McMurray's 28-yard pass to Nelson. McMurray capped the march with a one-yard plunge.

The Perfect Homecoming

In the most dramatic fashion of any victory in Arkansas State College history, the Indians came from behind in the last 15 seconds to win by one wonderful point, on a 10-yard pass from Jimmy McMurray to All-American end Tot Bentley. The Tribe entered the game a 32-point underdog to the mighty Mississippi Southern squad. Southern's splendid football machine had been ranked sixth in the nation in total offense and sixth in rushing defense before this game, with averages better than such great teams as Missouri, Ohio State, Alabama and Army. Somehow, the Redskins overcame it all. As the largest crowd in Arkansas State's history jammed Kays Field for the 1960 Homecoming, the stouthearted Warriors battled to the greatest victory in Indian football history. To diagnose A-State's victory is almost impossible. The Indians had a defense that was tough in the clutch, although not overpowering. Three times they held the Southerners for downs inside their 20, thanks to some great defensive play by Jack Snodgrass, Hassell McCain, Gilbert Arnold, Bobby Hogue, Marvin Hagaman, Frank Smith, Jack Burns, Jerry Arant, and others too numerous to mention. In short, it was a great defensive effort by a great team.

Arkansas State 14 - Mississippi Southern 13

Offensively the Tribe formerly centered around the outside-belly play with McMurray running the ball. In this game his alternate, Bobby Hogue, was the big stick on the ground with 55 yards rushing, while McMurray turned into a gifted passer, hitting seven of 12 for 78 yards, two touchdowns, and one two-pointer that proved the difference in the game. On the receiving end, of course, was Tot Bentley, the great ball hawk whose ability hadn't been used much until Saturday because of State's emphasis on the ground game. The senior end who set six new receiving records last year, proved to be the great equalizer in this game, catching five passes for two touchdowns, and a two-pointer. The game started like it might be the rout for Mississippi Southern that had been predicted. The Southerners took Peebles' opening kickoff and marched 65 yards in only 10 plays before the stubborn Tribe sucked up and held for downs at their own 18. Southern got down to business in the second quarter, taking Sammy Weir's punt on its 17 and marching to pay dirt in 23 plays, aided by only one pass. Southern led 13-8 with 15 seconds showing on the clock, when McMurray's magic arm fired true to Tot for the six-pointer. The conversion was no good, but then, who cared?

Arkansas State 6 - Tennessee Tech 17

The fighting Indians out-rushed and out-passed the Tennessee Tech Golden Eagles at Kays Field, but when the final gun had sounded Tech was the victor by the score of 17-6. Laden down with injuries the Tribe fought hard, but unfortunate penalties really hurt. The first time the Redmen had the ball they moved deep into Eagle territory. Highlighting this attack to Tennessee Tech's 18 yard line was the fine running of Sugg, Coffey and Nelson. An Indian fumble on their own 25 set up the first Tech touchdown. It took the Eagles four plays to get the six-pointer. Ron McCurry went in from the one-yard line and the Golden Boys led 6-0. Sims converted to increase the lead to 7. In the second half a State punt was short and Tech once again had the ball in Indian territory. Tech scored and the score read 14-0 with six minutes left in the third quarter. The Indians took the kickoff and marched 80 yards for a touchdown. Bobby Hogue scored for the Tribe from six yards out on an end sweep, but the same play failed on the try for the two-pointer. The Golden Eagles came back with a 14 yard fieldgoal making the final score 17-6.

QUARTERBACK Bobby Hogue proves he is on defense as well as offense. A great interception by a fine competitor.

Arkansas State 21 - The Citadel 22

Arkansas State faced the last gridiron task of the season with the Citadel Bulldogs of Charleston, S. C. The game marked the first time the two teams had played and both teams proved worthy opponents. The Citadel entered the game with an impressive 6-2-1 record, and were roosting in first place in the Southern Conference. The Cadet's losses came at the hands of two fine teams, George Washington University, and VMI. At quarterback the Cadets were guided by versatile Jerry Nettles. Nettles, one of the top passers in the Southern Conference had led the Bulldogs for the past two years, and he proved his worth against the Indians. Time after time, the speedy field-general engineered his squad to valuable yardage, and with the Indians leading 21-14, with 15 seconds on the clock, Nettles pushed across the winning tally. It was a tough way to lose a ball game, but it couldn't dull the luster of a great football year. When the 1960 season opened the Indians were 30-point underdogs to the Bulldogs, but when the final buzzer blew, everyone knew that they could match them, man for man. The last 15 seconds of this final battle were a fine example of the exciting brand of football the Indians displayed throughout the year. The 1960 season will be long remembered.

John Rauth

"A good ball player will wear out three pair of shoes for me in a season."

That was John Rauth, basketball coach for the Arkansas State College Indians, talking, and that sentence sums up just why Coach Rauth has been consistently successful during his twenty-five years of coaching. Coach Rauth was born in Belleville, Illinois, on January 20, 1914. He graduated from McKendree College (Illinois) in 1936 then attended Washington University, Wisconsin University, Southern Illinois University, and received his masters degree from the University of Missouri in 1950. Rauth began his coaching career in 1936, at Wayne City, Illinois High School. His outstanding record there brought an invitation from DuQuoin High School when the coaching job opened there.

DeQuoin's choice was well made — Rauth's teams were in the state's top ten every year Coach Rauth was there. Next, Rauth gave Harrisburg, Illinois its first winning team in ten years.

THE DYNAMIC COACHING technique of John Rauth is displayed in this candid shot of an Indian time out period.

the man behind the plan . . .

Rauth's stay at Harrisburg was the last stage of his high school coaching career. Coach Rauth left the high school circuit when he was contacted by Arkansas State. He landed at A-State in 1947 and became head coach in 1949.

Rauth's teams have been invited to the National NCAA College Division Tournament twice in the past three years, and State has regularly had nationally ranked teams.

One of State's best teams came in 1951, when State won 19 and lost only five games. This reputation has been garnered despite the fact that the Indians play some of the strongest teams in several states, having met De Pauw, Indiana State, Florida State, St. Louis University, Ole Miss, Vanderbilt, Kentucky State and a number of others.

"The satisfaction I get from coaching is the lasting friendships I've made with these boys. That's more important than the win-lose record."

GATLING SNAGS a rebound as Ward and Jones look on, ready to assist.

It isn't often that a coach is found to be optimistic before the season starts, but Coach John Rauth had good reason to feel that his 1961 Indians would make good competition for a number of foes.

The Indians had seven returning lettermen and four squadmen back from last year. The lettermen were Gaylon Ward, Warren Moore, John Gatling, Jackie Kenley, Billy (Spider) Jones, Jerry King and Ollie Yates. Other squadmen returning were Ronnie Volkman, Dave Crosley, Bill Smith and Bob Byrd.

Billy (Spider) Jones got 420 points for the Indians last year, and John Gatling put 152 field goals and 72 free points through the loop for 376 points. These returnees, along with a group of fine freshmen, gave a promise of good things to come. This promise was soon fulfilled.

The Indians biggest disadvantage was the lack of distinctive height and weight. The team had good overall size, but the real big man just wasn't there. Nevertheless, it was a great year for the fighting squad.

Week after week, the Tribe brought home the bacon, as they fought to victories over some of the strongest cage teams in the nation. Among the defeated were such powers as Pittsburg State, Southwest Missouri, and the once, mighty, Ole Miss Rebels.

Indians Split With Southeast Savages

BILLY "SPIDER" JONES

Stage fright took hold of Arkansas State's Indians in the season debut and cost them a disappointing 67-51 loss at the hands of the ball-hawking Southwest Oklahoma Savages. A crowd of almost 2,000 looked on as the Indians managed to stay on even terms with the invaders for most of the game, before their coldness proved too much to overcome.

The victory was the seventh in eight games for Southeast, which always manages to get the jump on the Tribe in opening its season. Southeast's glory was short-lived, however, as the Tribe returned the favor the next night and dumped the Savages by an impressive 63-49 score.

Before the season opened, Indian coach John Rauth said the Redskins would have to depend on fine shooting to overcome their lack of rebounding power. Every member of the Tribe's starting five averaged more than 40 percent from the field last year, but they could hit only 30 percent in their opener.

The Oklahomans connected on 51 percent from the field. Surprisingly enough, A-State led by gangling Warren Moore, won the rebound battle, 43-40. Moore snagged 13.

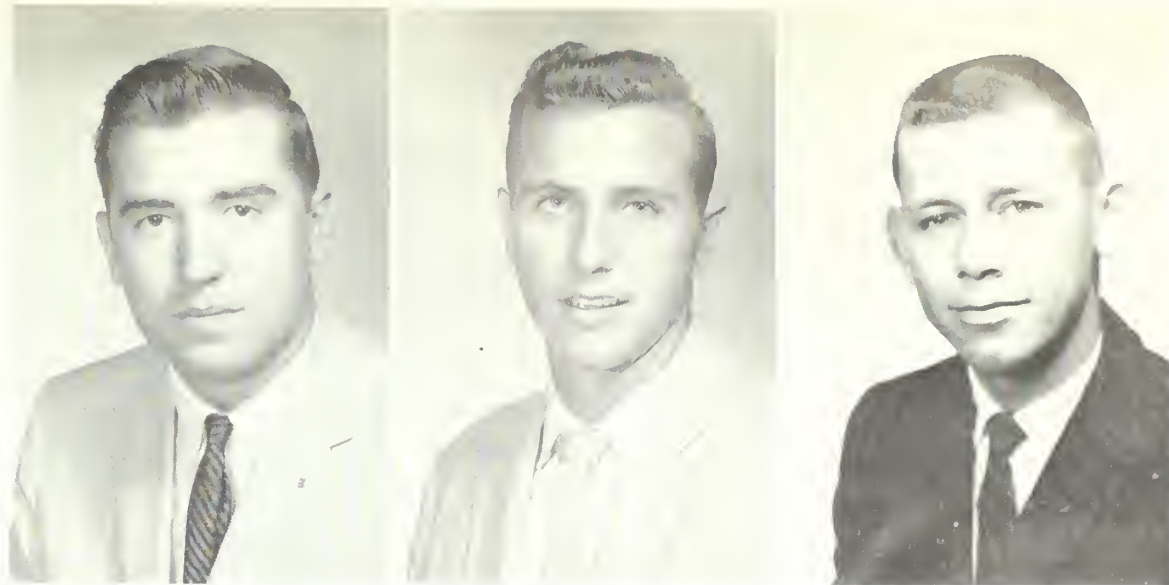

WILLIAM SMITH

HUGH JAMES

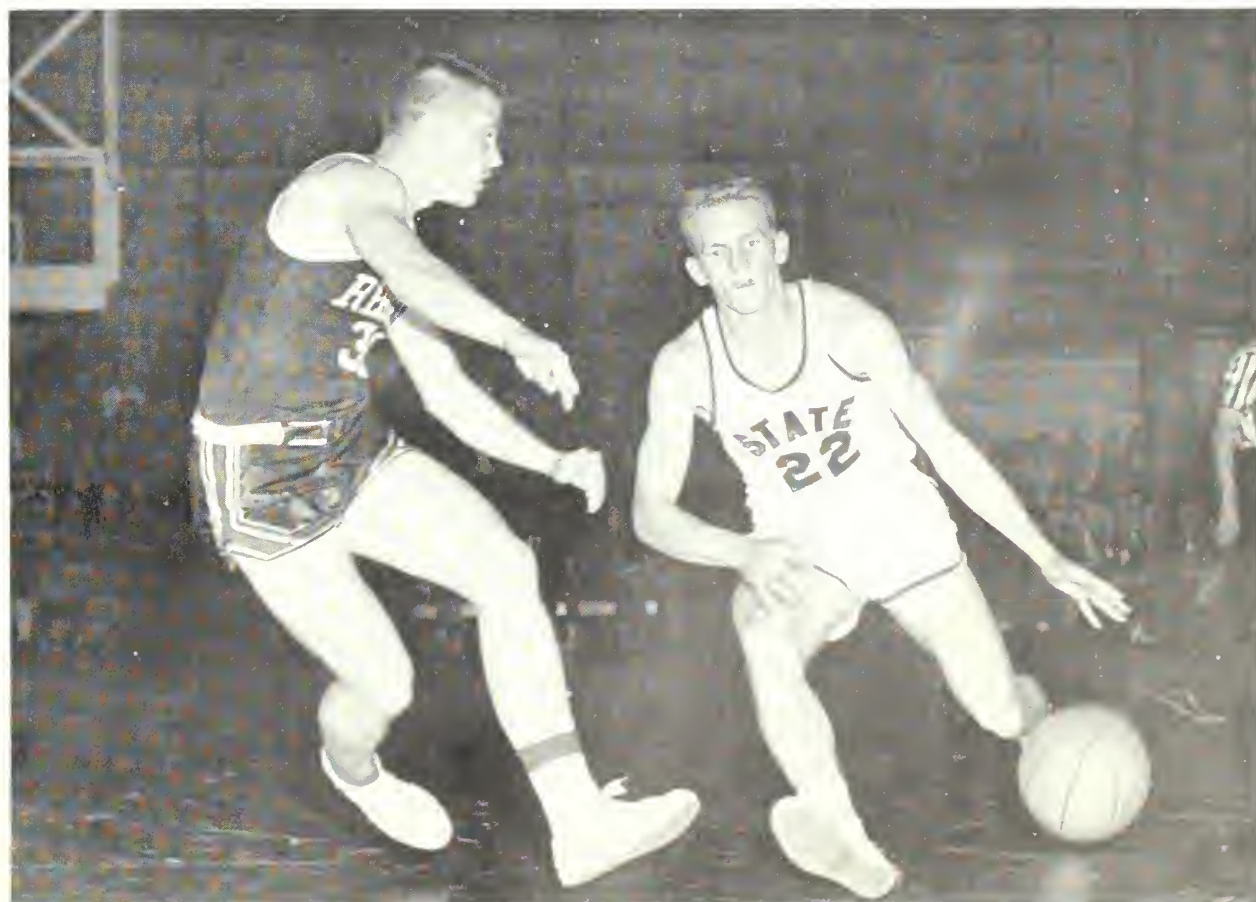

GAYLON WARD

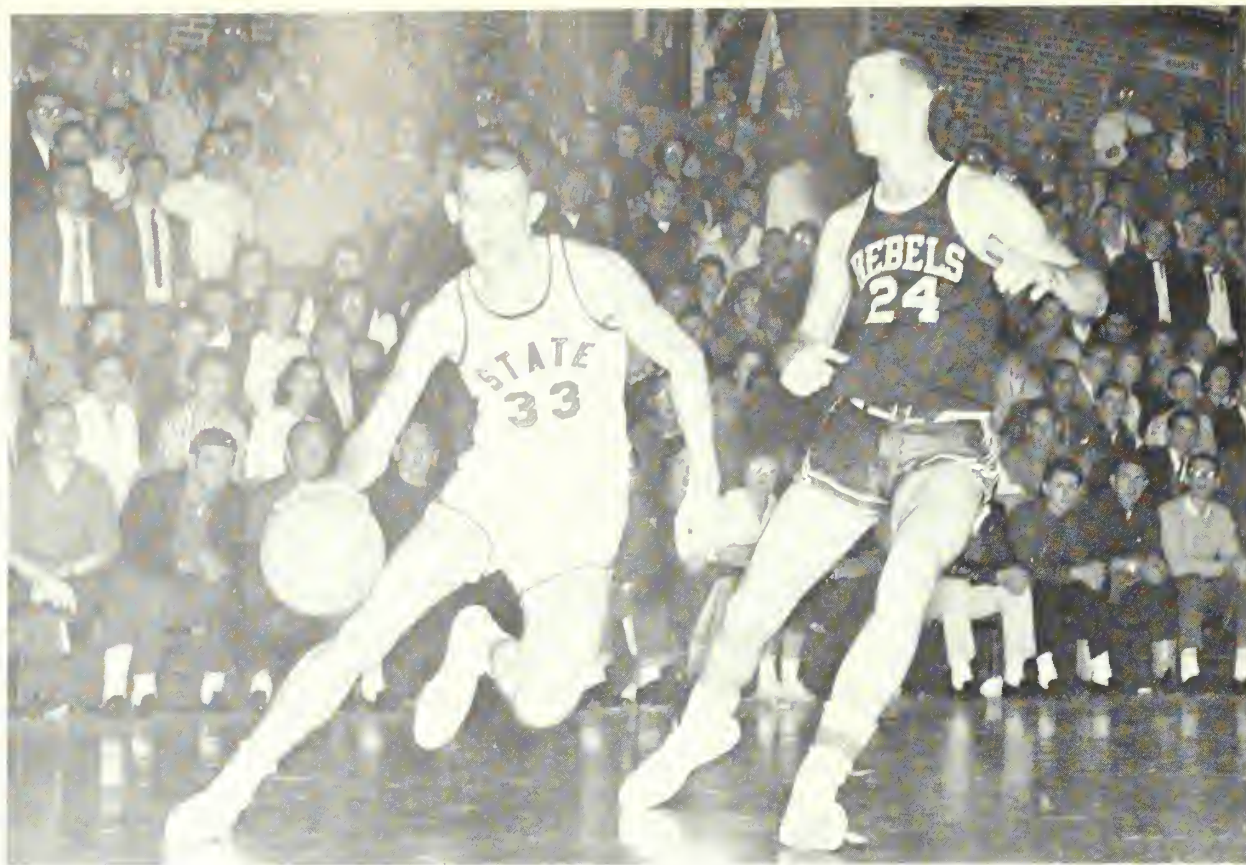

Individual star of the first game with Southeast Oklahoma was the Savages' star 6-7 center, Max Yarbrough, who poured in 29 points and snared 15 rebounds to lead in both departments. Center John Gatling was Arkansas State's high scorer with 15. The Indians never hit with any consistency at any time during the ball game, but their poise and ball-handling kept them even with the Oklahomans well into the second half. Then the Savages' spurred and it was all over for the Tribe, who couldn't hit well enough to keep pace.

A-State led most of the first half, including a 25-23 score at the halftime, but Southeast took over 36-35 with 13 minutes left in the game and never trailed again. With Yarbrough hitting two buckets and Dalmag Buckmaster two, the Savages leaped to a 43-35 lead before State could score again. For all practical purposes that wrapped it up despite two long shots by freshmen flash Don Shatley. State's biggest lead was five points (8-3) at the start of the game. The next night told a different story, however, as State won 63-49.

FRESHMAN DON SHATLEY gives an example of his dribbling skill.

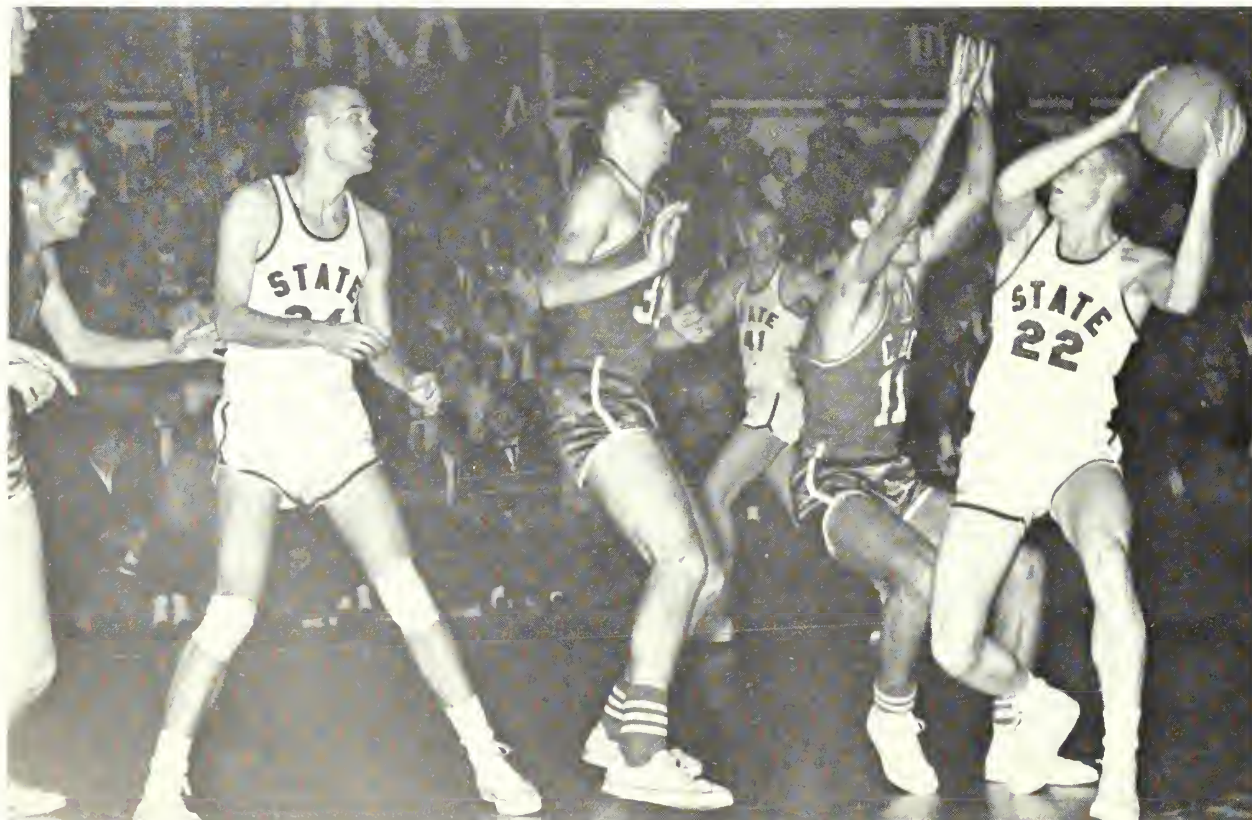

IT'S GAYLON'S TURN now as everyone scores against the once mighty Ole Miss Rebels.

Tribe Trims Timid Ole Miss

SHATLEY SLIPS a fast one to the eager arms of Oliver Yates as the Tribe rolls against CBC of Memphis.

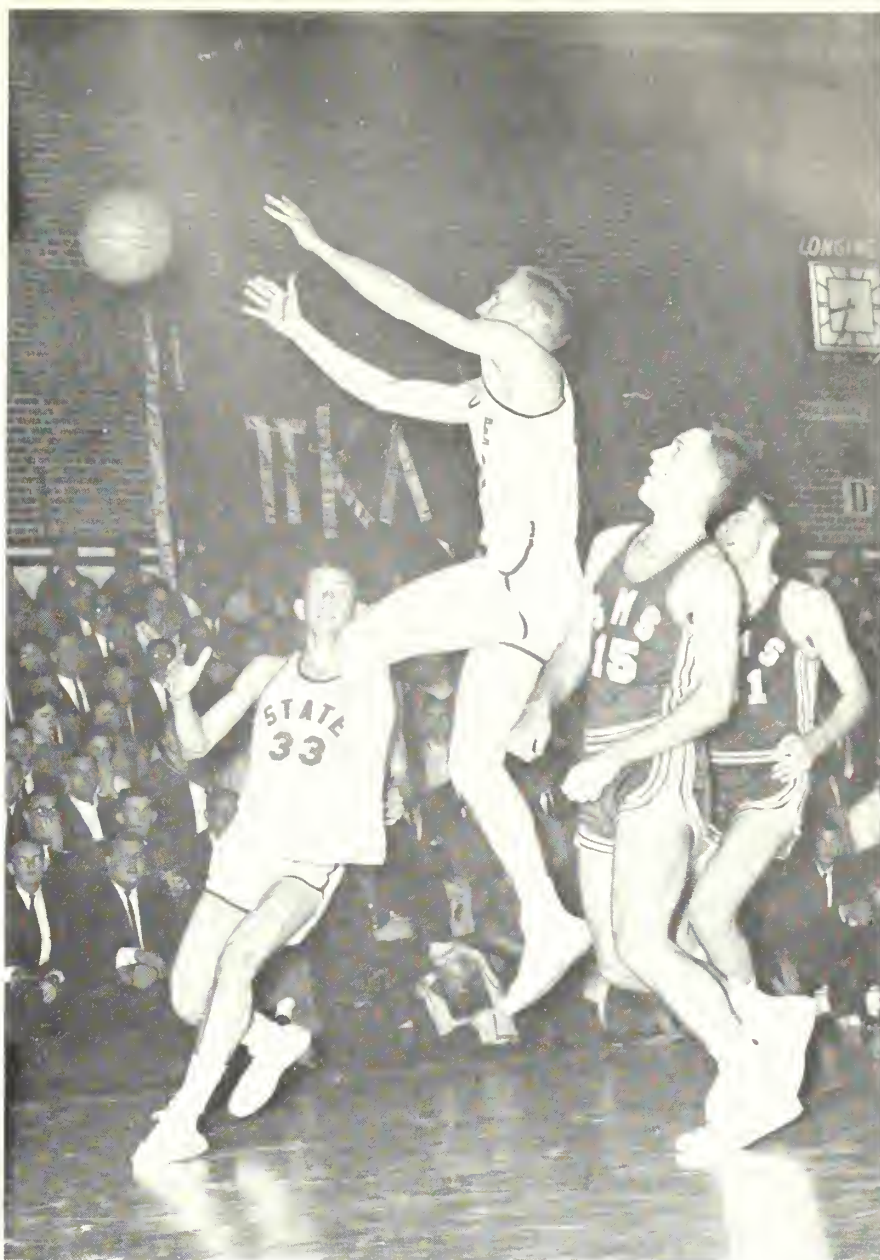

The greatness that lies in men can't be recorded in statistics or in terms of height and weight. It can only be witnessed in something like Arkansas State's electrifying 59-53 victory over the mighty Ole Miss Rebels.

On paper, the Rebels entered the game favored by at least 20 points, after finishing fourth in the 12-team Southeast Conference last year and bowling over their first two opponents with ease. On paper, the Johnny Rebs looked best in the post-game reports, too, leading in rebounds 48-44, in field goal accuracy 39-33 percent and boasting the fewest personal fouls 14-18.

The figures can't record, however, the aspects of the game which gave A-State the upset victory. Hustle, defense, aggressiveness and alertness were a few of them; coolness under fire was another. The game was one of the finest team efforts ever witnessed on the Arkansas State floor.

Heroes abounded for the Indians. There was Leachville's duo, Gaylon Ward and Don Shatley. Ward took individual scoring honors with 15 points and hit the final six points of the game, breaking a 53-53 tie and giving the Redmen the great victory. Shatley, the only freshman on the floor for either team, picked up nine rebounds and collected seven points. Only two men collected more rebounds, 6-6½ Sterling Ainsworth of Ole Miss (with 17) and 6-5 John Gatling of A-State. Shatley is 5-11.

WARD HUSTLES to get within camera range.

DON SHATLEY

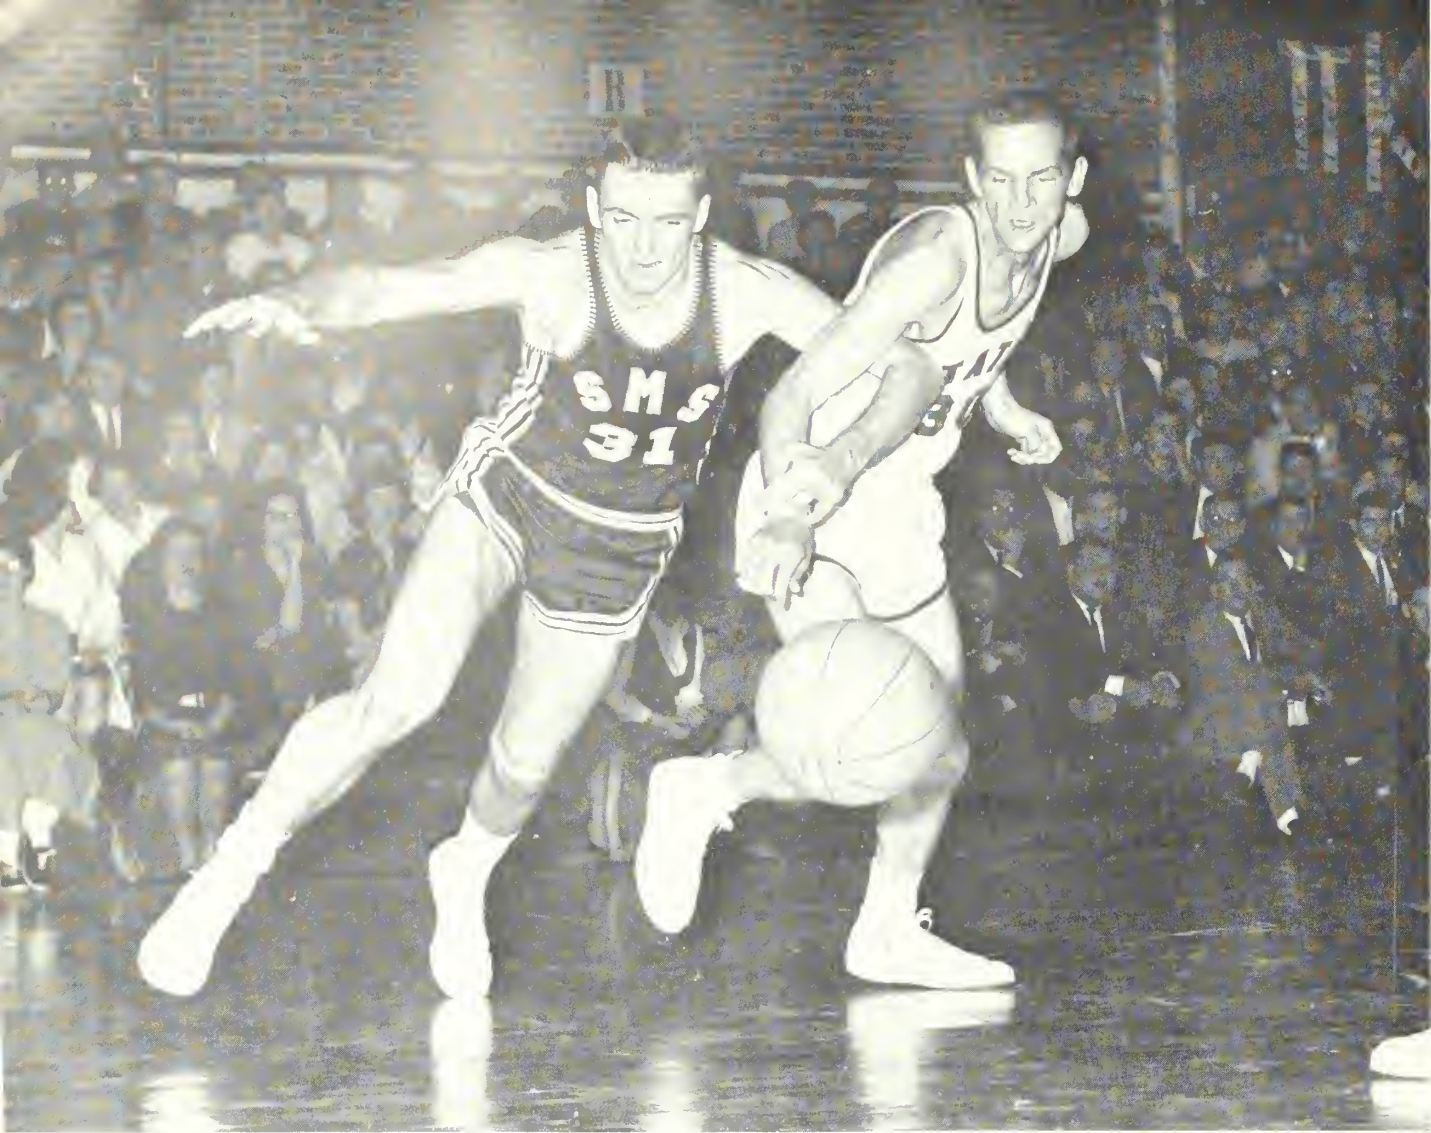

Defensive star for the game was gangling Warren Moore, State's brilliant 6-6 junior guard, who held All-SEC Jack Waters of Ole Miss to only nine points, more than 10 below his 19.5 point average. Moore had Waters so rattled that he could hit only one of four free throws, although he leads the nation in free throw accuracy. Last year Waters hit 87.3 percent (103 of 118).

Just as important in the Indians' well-balanced attack were Spider Jones and Jack Kenley with 11 points apiece, and Gatling with seven points and 11 rebounds, tops on the club. What made the Tribe's victory amazing was that it came after they had trailed by 11 points at the start of the second half (35-24). The game started on fairly even terms, as the lead changed four times and the score was deadlocked three times in the first seven minutes.

State went into a stall with 56 seconds left and a 57-53 lead, and the fans howled as Ole Miss tried to get the ball away from Shatley. The victory was the second straight for the Indians after the season opener. The loss was the first of the year for Ole Miss after blasting SE Louisiana and Loyola of New Orleans in its first two games.

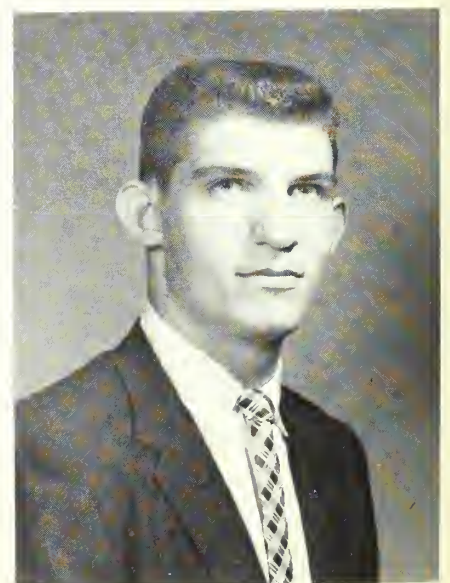

"WHATTA YA MEAN, foul? I was here first!"

Redmen Romp Rugged Gorillas

RONALD VOLKMAN

Finding their eye on a foreign court, Arkansas State's Indians racked up their third straight win of the basketball season at Pittsburg, Kansas, and won a smashing 74-66 victory from the Pittsburg State Gorillas. It was the first time in history that the Indians have ever beaten the Gorillas on their home court. After hitting only 32 percent in their first three games, the Indians blazed the nets for 43 percent to offset Pitts home court advantage. The Redskins were even hotter in the first half rippling the cords for 52 percent. At the same time, Pittsburg State was managing only 32 percent from the floor.

A-State produced a beautifully talented and balanced scoring attack, led by Billy Jones with 17 points. Center John Gatling and forward Jackie Kenley followed closely behind with 14 each, while reserve Ollie Yates chipped in with 11 when the Tribe needed it most, and freshman Don Shatley added nine. The game was a thriller from start to finish, although the Indians led most of the way. Hotter than a firecracker, the Tribe jumped off to a lead, and gave an impressive display of basketball, right up to the whistle.

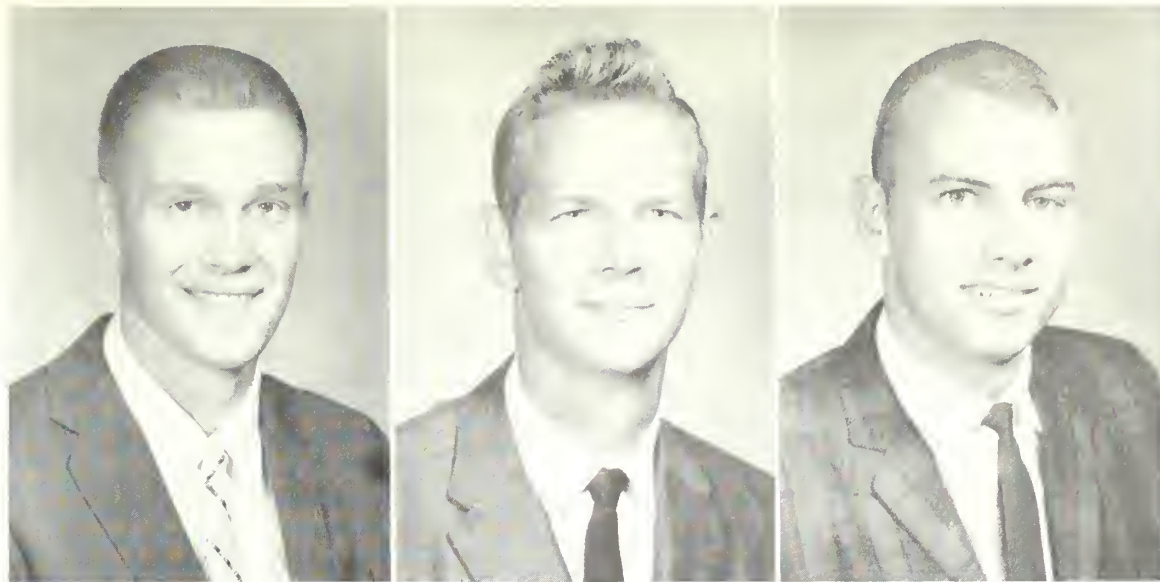

OLIVER YATES

JACK KENLEY

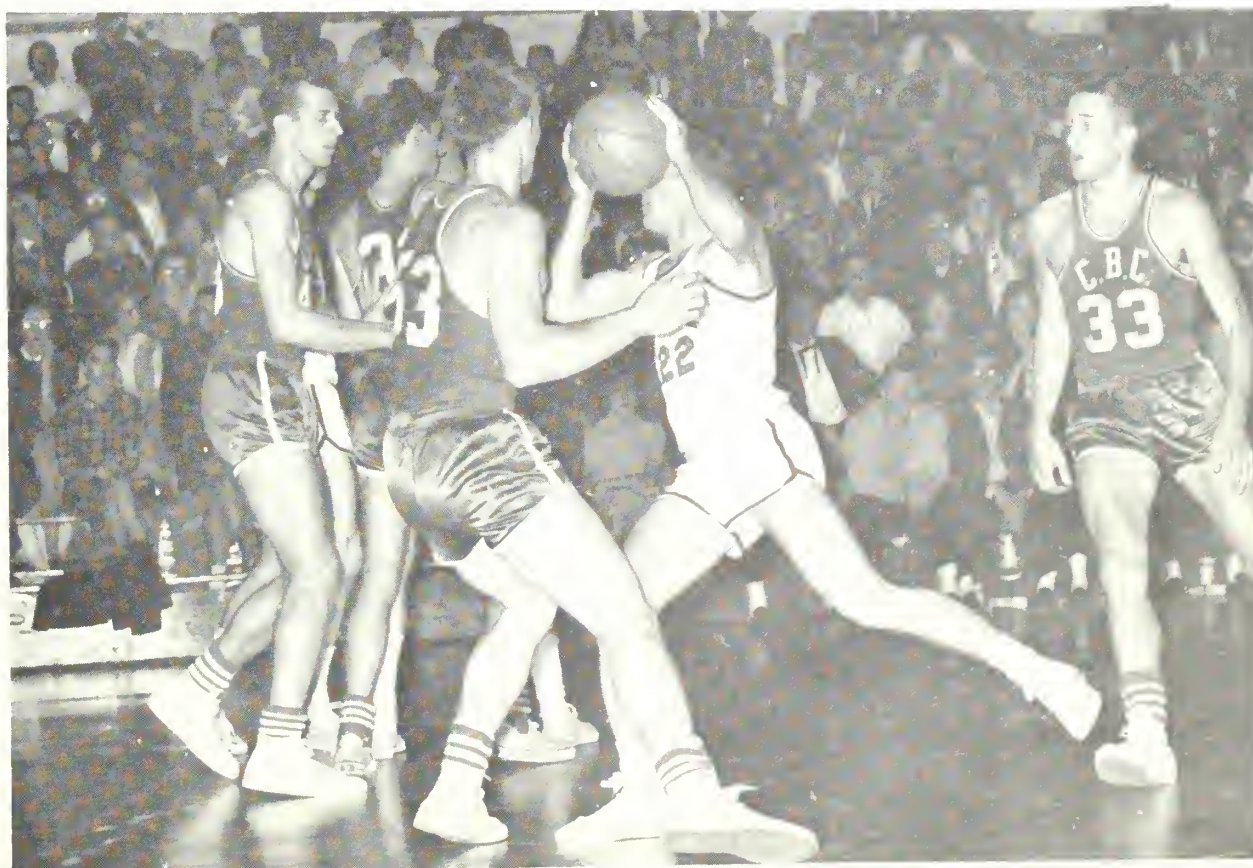

JERRY KING

After Pittsburg State the Indians continued their winning ways and came out on top of three out of their next five games, then met CBC of Memphis in a real thriller. Somebody should have called the fire department to put out the burned nets at A-State, as John Rauth's Indians outshot CBC 73-71 in a torrid duel that left a near capacity crowd of 2,700 gasping. Christian Brothers hit an unbelievable 67 percent in the first half to take an early lead on the Tribe, but the Buccaneers cooled slightly in the second period while the Indians plugged away.

The loss broke a five-game winning streak for the dead-eyes from Memphis, giving them an 8-4 record for the year. A-State drove their winning column to seven with the victory, as compared to only three losses. State had its worst night of the year in free throws, however, hitting a measly 52 percent, while CBC connected on 78 percent. The game was a down-to-the-wire thriller with the lead swapping hands seven times and the score being deadlocked six times. State went ahead to stay, 67-66, when Ward passed beautifully to Gatling with only a few minutes showing on the clock.

OUR BOY was outnumbered, but he wasn't outclassed.

THERE IS JUST nothing in this ole world that will ever take the place of winning!

Blazing Bears Blast Redskins

COACH JOHN RAUTH briefs Shatley and Kenley as the action gets heated.

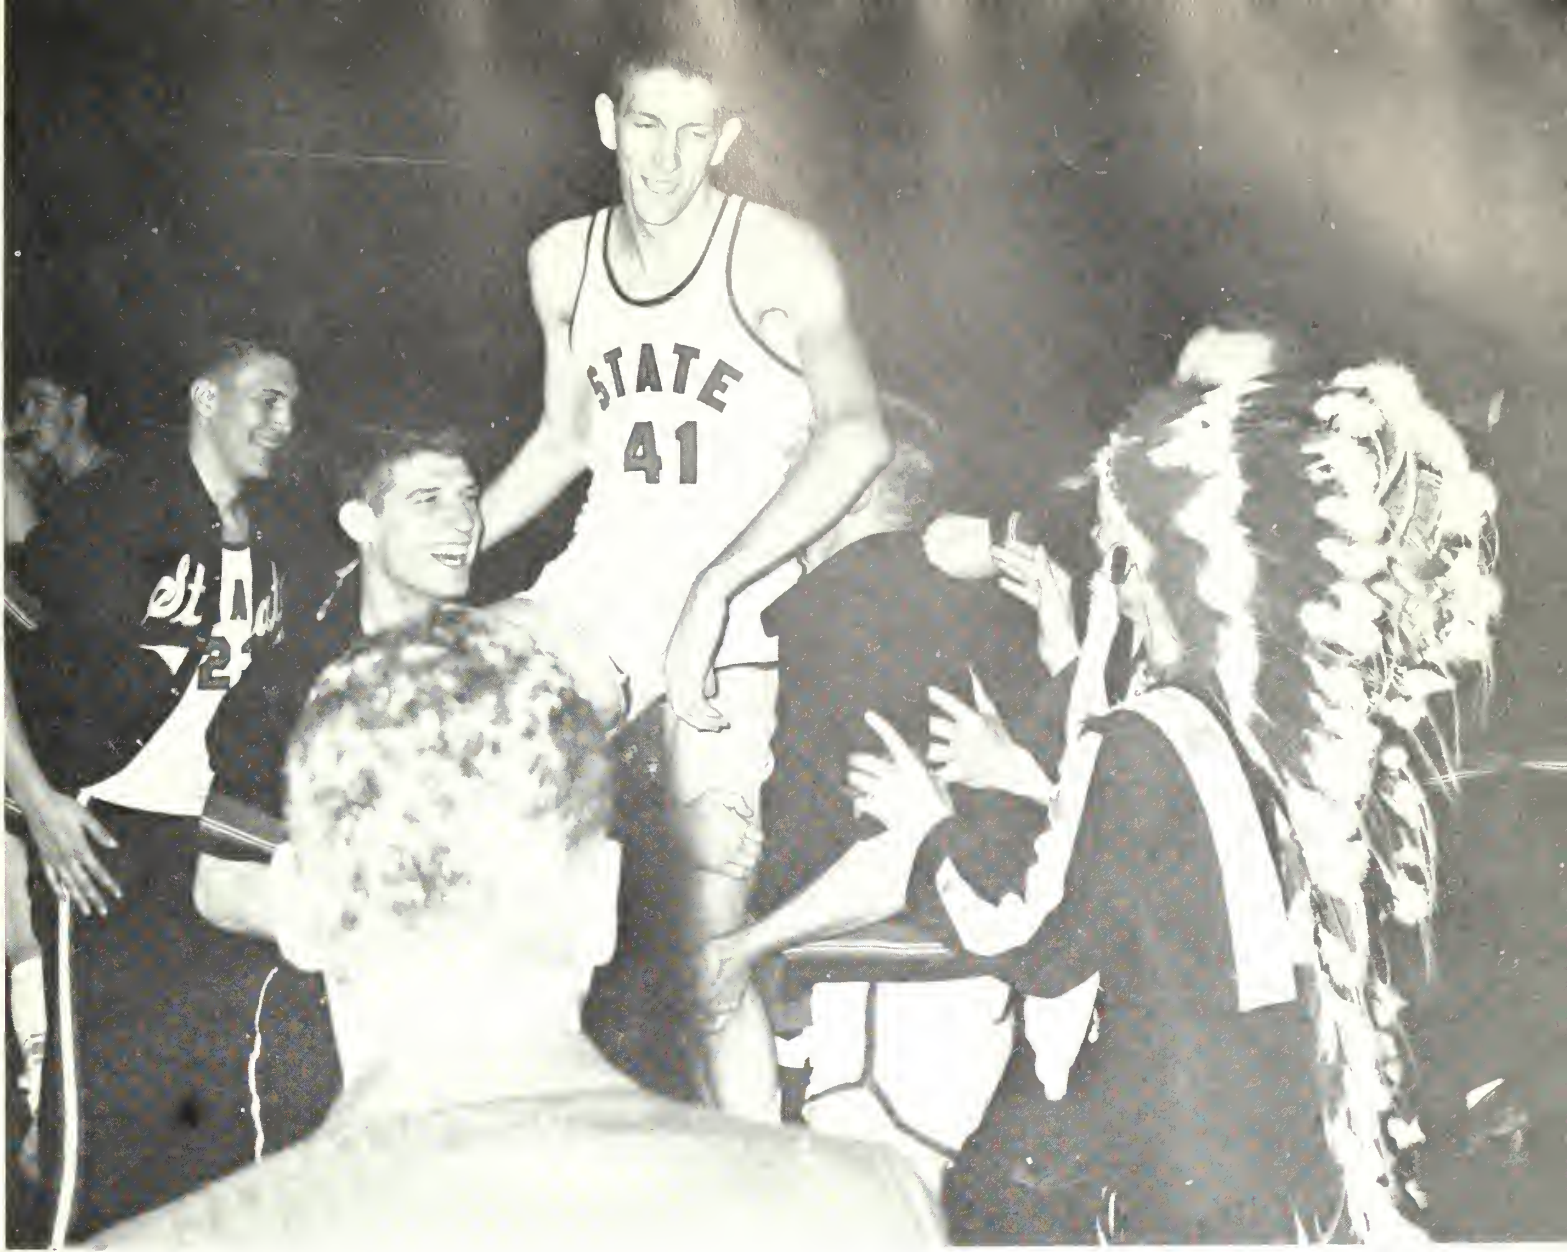

Following the game with CBC the Indians ran into their toughest luck of the season as they dropped three games in a row, the last one being a 93-80 loss to the Southwest Missouri State Bears. SW Missouri sent 13 men into action and all 13 got into the scoring column, and the net result was a shocking victory over the Indians.

Defense became a thing of the past as both teams put on a blazing offensive show. The Indians had four men in the double figures, but the host Bears made use of its terrific bench strength to subdue the Tribe. For a while in the first half, the contest was a see-saw match, moving back and forth, but every time the Indians would pull close, the Bears would use their personnel advantage to move back out in front.

Yates was starting in place of John Gatling, who didn't make the trip, and did a tremendous job offensively for the Tribe. Warren Moore continued his offensive surge, counting for 16 points, while Billy Jones hit on nine of nine from the charity stripe to total 13. Strangely enough, State outrebounded the Bears 41-37.

"THE CHIEF" joins in the congratulations as fans swarm over the playing court to congratulate the Indians after the Francis T. Nichols game.

WARREN MOORE

The Indians returned to their winning ways with a 66-60 victory over the Pittsburg State Gorillas. This was the second meeting of the two teams in 1961 and the Indians topped the Kansas boys on both encounters. The Redskins failed to operate with the slick proficiency they showed in winning seven of their first 10 games, but they managed to offset their stymied offense with a torrid shooting streak that saw them hit 58.3 percent for the game — their high mark for the year. At the same time, Pittsburg State was connecting on only 31.5 percent, and therein was the difference between victory and defeat. With two of their starters burdened with four fouls early in the game, the Indians could never put together a workable combination after the first 10 minutes. Warren Moore and Jack Kenley were called for a series of offensive fouls which drew catcalls from the crowd and kept them on the bench most of the game. A-State dominated the backboards 37-27, led by Gatling's nine rebounds and Jones' eight. The Indians came out for vengeance when they first took the floor, rolling up an 8-3 lead in the first three minutes.

GAYLON WARD jumps for the rebound on an Indian free-throw. Gatling eyes the ball anxiously.

Greenies Numb On 'John Rauth Night'

DAVE CROSLY

After the Pittsburg State game the revenge hungry Indians pounded the victory path again as they clobbered Southwest Missouri 65-62. Trouble seems to come in pairs and the Tribe proved this old saying as they came out on the little end of the scoring column against Delta State and Austin Peay.

Austin Peay's Governors showed the championship form that has won them four straight Volunteer State Athletic Conference titles as they handed Arkansas State a rare home court loss 84-75. The game was nip and tuck most of the way until Austin Peay grabbed an eight point lead with 2:50 remaining. A-State could never catch up after that point, as their starters left the game in droves burdened with five fouls. Ward led the Indian scoring with 21 points, accounting for 15 of their first 27 points. Kenley added 14 to the well balanced attack, and Gatling hit 12. Spider Jones, Ward, Moore and Gatling fouled out for the Tribe, with Jones leaving shortly after halftime and the others going out in the last six minutes of the game.

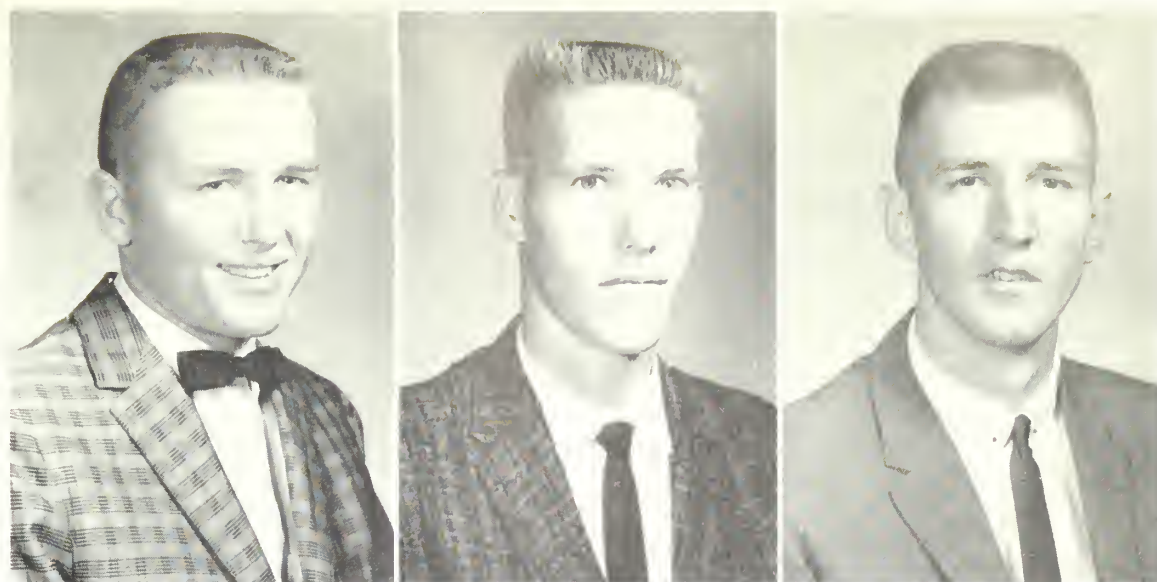

JIM KELLER

JERRY HUDGINS

JOHN GATLING

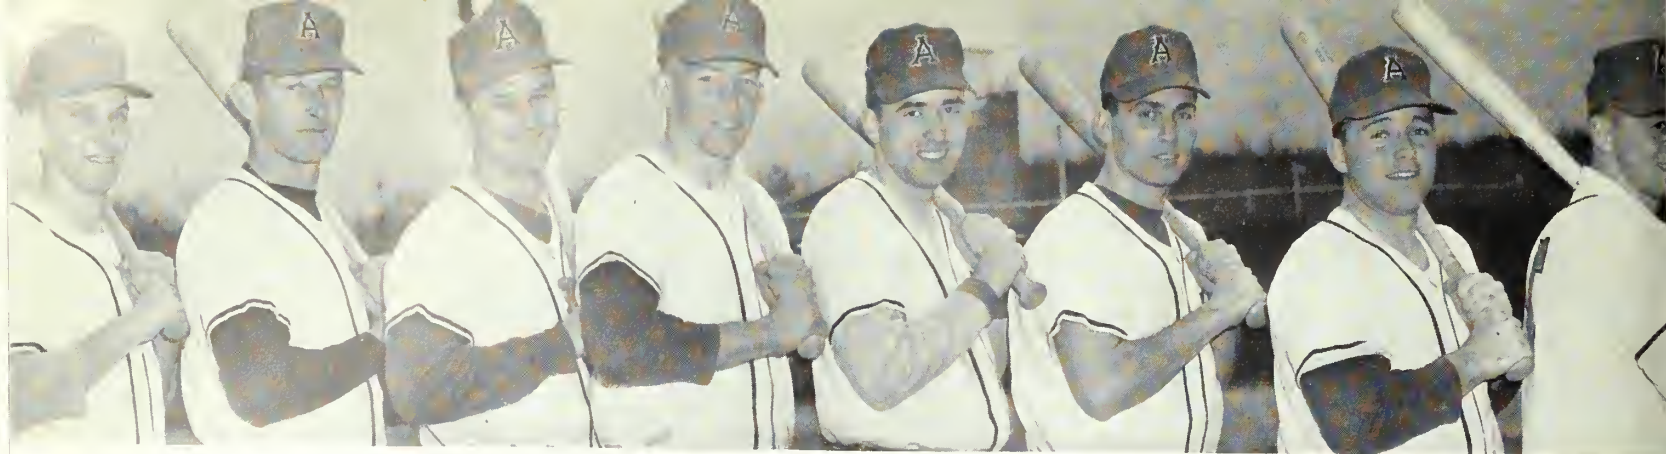

Five tough foes faced the Tribe at the season's end and the Redmen managed to come out on top in two of these battles. A-State downed Francis T. Nichols and Delta State, while losing to CBC of Memphis, Murray State and Southeast Missouri. A brilliant first half of the season enabled the late season losses to be offset, and the fighting Indians came up with a fine .500 season. The Tribe won 11 and was defeated in 11 battles. The fans of John Rauth and his Indians payed a well-deserved tribute.

It was "John Rauth Night" at Arkansas State as the Indians closed out their 1961 home season against the Delta State Greenies. The Redskins paid homage to their coach of the past 12 years, who celebrated his 25th year of coaching this year, by defeating the Greenies by an impressive 99-83 score. Ceremonies for "John Rauth Night" were held at the halftime. Delta State provided formidable opposition for the festive occasion, but the Tribe revenged their earlier season loss.

Baseball 1961

Overall depth and experience prevailed among the diamond hopefuls as Arkansas State's baseballers prepared to meet the challenge of the toughest slate in the school's history. A 28-game schedule, including teams from eight states, was lined up by Coach J. A. "Ike" Tomlinson. A-State finished with an 11-14-2 mark last year, but should be ready for a banner finish this season. The only infield loss was that of third baseman Bill Caldwell, and already, the Indians have come up with two fine prospects to fill the spot. First baseman Alfred "Tot" Bentley was last year's leading hitter with a .353 mark. He returns along with John Wood (.333) at second base and Jerry Presley (.274) at short. Lettermen Tommy Paul and Andy Morris return for the outfield.

Track 1961

COACH LARRY LACEWELL

TRAINER SAM NUGENT

Coaching the Indian track team this year for the first time will be Larry Lacewell, a former track standout at Fordyce High School, and later at Arkansas A&M College. Coach Lacewell took over the head reigns in January, due to the unexpected departure of Ken Stephens, and while Lacewell's talents are basically related to the grid sport, he is not to be slighted on the oval.

Lacewell's main job will be recruiting enough material to supplement some of the sparse, but talented returning material. Strong points appear to be the sprints, middle distances and weights. The pole vault and high jump should also be strengthened this year with the addition of two newcomers.

Recent years have seen a decline in Arkansas State as a top track power, and while chances of filling the void do not appear completely bright, 1961 may mark the beginning of a new era for Indian thinlies. Coach Lacewell became assistant football coach at the University of Alabama, under Paul "Bear" Bryant, after graduation from A & M, then he came to Arkansas State. Along with being track coach, Lacewell is freshman football coach during the gridiron season.

THE HOPES OF the 1961 Indian thinclads rested on the powerful shoulders of this impressive group of Arkansas State speedsters and weight men. The Tribe is shown here with trainer Nugent and Coach Lacewell.

DON'T LET THE relaxed looks fool you! These men go to work when the camera man finally leaves.

Sammy Weir, Roy Nelson and Jimmy Howell are the top three sprinters and should turn in creditable performances in the 100 and 220 yard dashes. The return of Al Miller in the 440, plus the addition of freshman Pat Riddell should make that race a strong one. Miller and Bill Wilkerson combine talents in the 880 yard dash. Billy Berry combines with J. W. Seymour in the pole vault, while newcomer Garland Dye should excell in the high jump. Garland won the intramural high jump last year with a leap of six feet. Jerry Arant and Frank Smith are one and two in the shot put and the discus throw, while Sam Austin should be tops in the javelin and also help out in the discus.

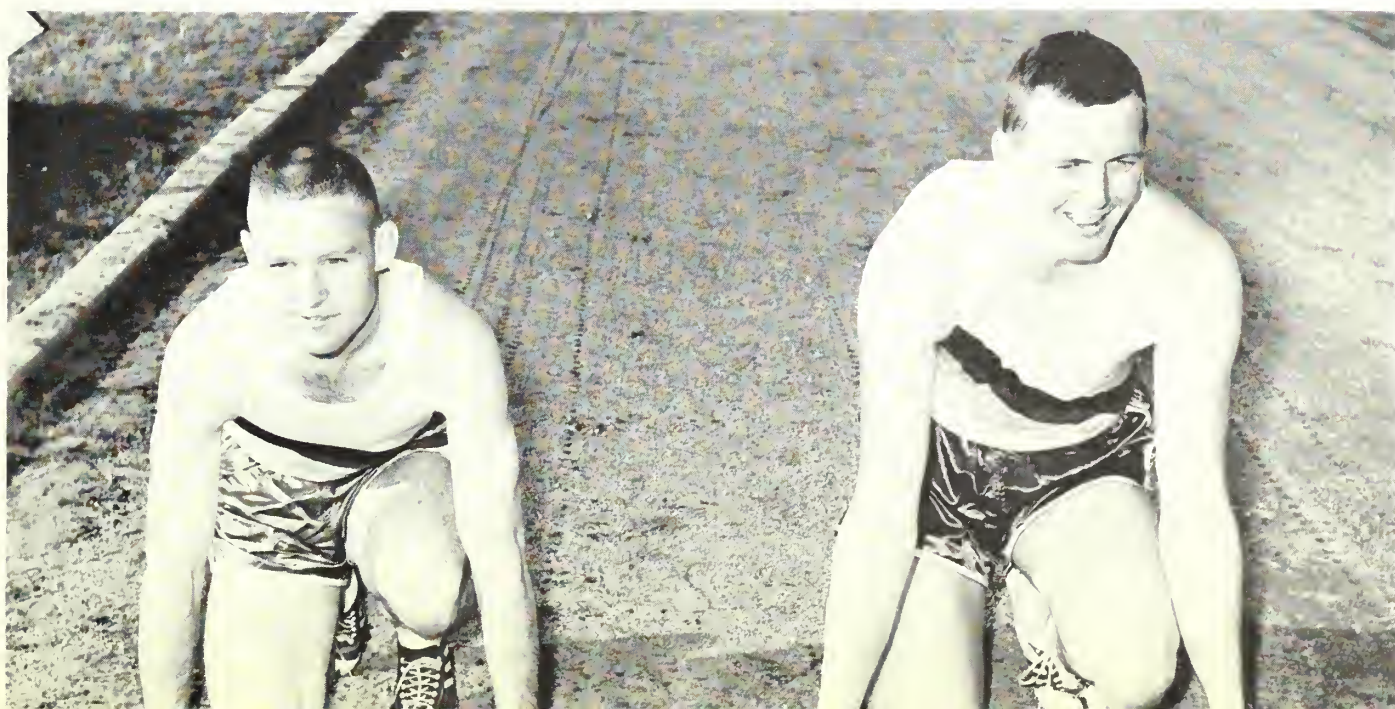

BOB LATIMER and Jim Howell are neck and neck as they clear the first hurdle.

SAMMY WEIR clocked an amazing 9.9 hundred in the first meet against Southwestern.

THE Year, THE Book—1961—

As I look back over the events of the past ten and one half months, I can see a lot of things well worth remembering and many people that I will never forget. There were many times throughout the year that I thought things could not get worse but I had a good staff and together we produced a yearbook.

To the nine staff members who gave their every effort through the course of the entire year I owe my sincerest gratitude. To Linda Davis — without you this book would still be in the planning stages. To my class editors — Anne Horn, Patsy Jo Chaney and Carol MaGouirk — go my thanks for a task superbly accomplished. To June Bridger for arranging all the society pictures and to Billy Compton for new and unique ideas in the area of sports coverage. And of course, to good ole' Charlie Crow — the annual staff's "our man friday" with a camera, for his ability and cooperation in the field of photography.

Completed At Last

And now as we can sit back in our easy chairs and bask in the glory of criticism, we can indeed be proud of many things, but most of all we can be proud of our efforts this year and devotion to a cause, that, at times, seemed almost impossible and not worth the effort. We argued, we wrote, we thought and we finally produced a yearbook for you.

But, today the book is out of our hands and only time will tell whether we attained the heights so anxiously hoped for. Thank you staff for your cooperation in making this the most memorable experience of my life.
